DISCLAIMER

In view of the stringent time requirements encountered by the Department of Basic Education to effect the necessary editorial changes and layout to the Curriculum and Assessment Policy Statements and the supplementary policy documents, possible errors may occur in the said documents placed on the official departmental websites.

There may also be vernacular inconsistencies in the language documents at Home-, First and Second Additional Language levels which have been translated in the various African Languages. Please note that the content of the documents translated and versioned in the African Languages are correct as they are based on the English generic language documents at all three language levels to be implemented in all four school phases.

If any editorial, layout or vernacular inconsistencies are detected, the user is kindly requested to bring this to the attention of the Department of Basic Education.

FOREWORD BY THE MINISTER

Our national curriculum is the culmination of our efforts over a period of seventeen years to transform the curriculum bequeathed to us by apartheid. From the start of democracy we have built our curriculum on the values that inspired our Constitution (Act 108 of 1996). The Preamble to the Constitution states that the aims of the Constitution are to:

- heal the divisions of the past and establish a society based on democratic values, social justice and fundamental human rights;
  - improve the quality of life of all citizens and free the potential of each person;
  - lay the foundations for a democratic and open society in which government is based on the will of the people and every citizen is equally protected by law; and
- build a united and democratic South Africa able to take its rightful place as a sovereign state in the family of nations.

Education and the curriculum have an important role to play in realising these aims.

In 1997 we introduced outcomes-based education to overcome the curricular divisions of the past, but the experience of implementation prompted a review in 2000. This led to the first curriculum revision: the Revised National Curriculum Statement Grades R-9 and the National Curriculum Statement Grades 10-12 (2002).

Ongoing implementation challenges resulted in another review in 2009 and we revised the Revised National Curriculum Statement (2002) and the National Curriculum Statement Grades 10-12 to produce this document.

From 2012 the two National Curriculum Statements, for Grades R-9 and Grades 10-12 respectively, are combined in a single document and will simply be known as the National Curriculum Statement Grades R-12. The National Curriculum Statement for Grades R-12 builds on the previous curriculum but also updates it and aims to provide clearer specification of what is to be taught and learnt on a term-by-term basis.

The National Curriculum Statement Grades R-12 represents a policy statement for learning and teaching in South African schools and comprises of the following:

- (a) Curriculum and Assessment Policy Statements (CAPS) for all approved subjects listed in this document;
- (b) National policy pertaining to the programme and promotion requirements of the National Curriculum Statement Grades R-12; and
- (c) National Protocol for Assessment Grades R-12.

SECTION 1: CURRICULUM AND ASSESSMENT POLICY STATEMENT

1.1 BACKGROUND

The National Curriculum Statement Grades R-12 (NCS) stipulates policy on curriculum and assessment in the schooling sector.

To improve implementation, the National Curriculum Statement was amended, with the amendments coming into effect in January 2012. A single comprehensive Curriculum and Assessment Policy document was developed for each subject to replace Subject Statements, Learning Programme Guidelines and Subject Assessment Guidelines in Grades R-12.

1.2 OVERVIEW

- (a) The National Curriculum Statement Grades R-12 (January 2012) represents a policy statement for learning and teaching in South African schools and comprises the following:
- (i) Curriculum and Assessment Policy Statements for each approved school subject;
  - (ii) The policy document, National policy pertaining to the programme and promotion requirements of the National Curriculum Statement Grades R-12; and
  - (iii) The policy document, National Protocol for Assessment Grades R-12 (January 2012).
- (b) The National Curriculum Statement Grades R-12 (January 2012) replaces the two current national curricula statements, namely the
- (i) Revised National Curriculum Statement Grades R-9, Government Gazette No. 23406 of 31 May 2002, and
  - (ii) National Curriculum Statement Grades 10-12 Government Gazettes, No. 25545 of 6 October 2003 and No. 27594 of 17 May 2005.
- (c) The national curriculum statements contemplated in subparagraphs b(i) and (ii) comprise the following policy documents which will be incrementally repealed by the National Curriculum Statement Grades R-12 (January 2012) during the period 2012-2014:
- (i) The Learning Area/Subject Statements, Learning Programme Guidelines and Subject Assessment Guidelines for Grades R-9 and Grades 10-12;
  - (ii) The policy document, National Policy on assessment and qualifications for schools in the General Education and Training Band, promulgated in Government Notice No. 124 in Government Gazette No. 29626 of 12 February 2007;
  - (iii) The policy document, the National Senior Certificate: A qualification at Level 4 on the National Qualifications Framework (NQF), promulgated in Government Gazette No.27819 of 20 July 2005;

- (iv) The policy document, An addendum to the policy document, the National Senior Certificate: A qualification at Level 4 on the National Qualifications Framework (NQF), regarding learners with special needs published in Government Gazette, No.29466 of 11 December 2006, is incorporated in the policy document, National policy pertaining to the programme and promotion requirements of the National Curriculum Statement Grades R-12; and
- (v) The policy document, An addendum to the policy document, the National Senior Certificate: A qualification at Level 4 on the National Qualifications Framework (NQF), regarding the National Protocol for Assessment (Grades R-12), promulgated in Government Notice No.1267 in Government Gazette No. 29467 of 11 December 2006.=
- (d) The policy document, National policy pertaining to the programme and promotion requirements of the National Curriculum Statement Grades R-12, and the sections on the Curriculum and Assessment Policy as contemplated in Chapters 2, 3 and 4 of this document constitute the norms and standards of the National Curriculum Statement Grades R-12. It will therefore, in terms of section 6A of the South African Schools Act, 1996 (Act No. 84 of 1996,) form the basis for the Minister of Basic Education to determine minimum outcomes and standards, as well as the processes and procedures for the assessment of learner achievement to be applicable to public and independent schools.

1.3 GENERAL AIMS OF THE SOUTH AFRICAN CURRICULUM

- (a) The National Curriculum Statement Grades R-12 gives expression to the knowledge, skills and values worth learning in South African schools. This curriculum aims to ensure that children acquire and apply knowledge and skills in ways that are meaningful to their own lives. In this regard, the curriculum promotes knowledge in local contexts, while being sensitive to global imperatives.
- (b) The National Curriculum Statement Grades R-12 serves the purposes of:
- equipping learners, irrespective of their socio-economic background, race, gender, physical ability or intellectual ability, with the knowledge, skills and values necessary for self-fulfilment, and meaningful participation in society as citizens of a free country;
  - providing access to higher education;
  - facilitating the transition of learners from education institutions to the workplace; and
  - providing employers with a sufficient profile of a learner's competences.
- (c) The National Curriculum Statement Grades R-12 is based on the following principles:
- Social transformation: ensuring that the educational imbalances of the past are redressed, and that equal educational opportunities are provided for all sections of the population;
  - Active and critical learning: encouraging an active and critical approach to learning, rather than rote and uncritical learning of given truths;
  - High knowledge and high skills: the minimum standards of knowledge and skills to be achieved at each grade are specified and set high, achievable standards in all subjects;
  - Progression: content and context of each grade shows progression from simple to complex;

- Human rights, inclusivity, environmental and social justice: infusing the principles and practices of social and environmental justice and human rights as defined in the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa. The National Curriculum Statement Grades R-12 is sensitive to issues of diversity such as poverty, inequality, race, gender, language, age, disability and other factors;
  - Valuing indigenous knowledge systems: acknowledging the rich history and heritage of this country as important contributors to nurturing the values contained in the Constitution; and
  - Credibility, quality and efficiency: providing an education that is comparable in quality, breadth and depth to those of other countries.
- (d) The National Curriculum Statement Grades R-12 aims to produce learners that are able to:
- identify and solve problems and make decisions using critical and creative thinking;
  - work effectively as individuals and with others as members of a team;
  - organise and manage themselves and their activities responsibly and effectively;
  - collect, analyse, organise and critically evaluate information;
  - communicate effectively using visual, symbolic and/or language skills in various modes;
  - use science and technology effectively and critically showing responsibility towards the environment and the health of others; and
  - demonstrate an understanding of the world as a set of related systems by recognising that problem solving contexts do not exist in isolation.
- (e) Inclusivity should become a central part of the organisation, planning and teaching at each school. This can only happen if all teachers have a sound understanding of how to recognise and address barriers to learning, and how to plan for diversity.

The key to managing inclusivity is ensuring that barriers are identified and addressed by all the relevant support structures within the school community, including teachers, District-Based Support Teams, Institutional-Level Support Teams, parents and Special Schools as Resource Centres. To address barriers in the classroom, teachers should use various curriculum differentiation strategies such as those included in the Department of Basic Education's Guidelines for Inclusive Teaching and Learning (2010).

1.4 TIME ALLOCATION

1.4.1 Foundation Phase

(a) The instructional time in the Foundation Phase is as follows:

SUBJECT	GRADE R (HOURS)	GRADES 1-2 (HOURS)	GRADE 3 (HOURS)
Home Language	10	8/7	8/7
First Additional Language		2/3	3/4
Mathematics	7	7	7
Life Skills	6	6	7
• Beginning Knowledge	(1)	(1)	(2)
• Creative Arts	(2)	(2)	(2)
• Physical Education	(2)	(2)	(2)
• Personal and Social Well-being	(1)	(1)	(1)
TOTAL	23	23	25

(b) Instructional time for Grades R, 1 and 2 is 23 hours and for Grade 3 is 25 hours.

(c) Ten hours are allocated for languages in Grades R-2 and 11 hours in Grade 3. A maximum of 8 hours and a minimum of 7 hours are allocated for Home Language and a minimum of 2 hours and a maximum of 3 hours for Additional Language in Grades 1-2. In Grade 3 a maximum of 8 hours and a minimum of 7 hours are allocated for Home Language and a minimum of 3 hours and a maximum of 4 hours for First Additional Language.

(d) In Life Skills Beginning Knowledge is allocated 1 hour in Grades R - 2 and 2 hours as indicated by the hours in brackets for Grade 3.

1.4.2 Intermediate Phase

(a) The instructional time in the Intermediate Phase is as follows:

SUBJECT	HOURS
Home Language	6
First Additional Language	5
Mathematics	6
Natural Sciences and Technology	3,5
Social Sciences	3
Life Skills	4
• Creative Arts	(1,5)
• Physical Education	(1)
• Personal and Social Well-being	(1,5)
TOTAL	27,5

1.4.3 Senior Phase

(a) The instructional time in the Senior Phase is as follows:

SUBJECT	HOURS
Home Language	5
First Additional Language	4
Mathematics	4,5
Natural Sciences	3
Social Sciences	3
Technology	2
Economic Management Sciences	2
Life Orientation	2
Creative Arts	2
TOTAL	27,5

1.4.4 Grades 10-12

(a) The instructional time in Grades 10-12 is as follows:

SUBJECT	TIME ALLOCATION PER WEEK (HOURS)
Home Language	4.5
First Additional Language	4.5
Mathematics	4.5
Life Orientation	2
A minimum of any three subjects selected from Group B Annexure B, Tables B1-B8 of the policy document, National policy pertaining to the programme and promotion requirements of the National Curriculum Statement Grades R-12 , subject to the provisos stipulated in paragraph 28 of the said policy document.	12 (3x4h)
TOTAL	27,5

The allocated time per week may be utilised only for the minimum required NCS subjects as specified above, and may not be used for any additional subjects added to the list of minimum subjects. Should a learner wish to offer additional subjects, additional time must be allocated for the offering of these subjects.

SECTION 2: INTRODUCING THE HOME LANGUAGE IN THE SENIOR PHASE

2.1 LANGUAGES IN THE NATIONAL CURRICULUM AND ASSESSMENT POLICY STATEMENT

Language is a tool for thought and communication. It is also a cultural and aesthetic means commonly shared among a people to make better sense of the world they live in. Learning to use language effectively enables learners to acquire knowledge, to express their identity, feelings and ideas, to interact with others, and to manage their world. It also provides learners with a rich, powerful and deeply rooted set of images and ideas that can be used to make their world other than it is; better and clearer than it is. It is through language that cultural diversity and social relations are expressed and constructed, and it is through language that such constructions can be altered, broadened and refined.

2.1.1 Language levels

Language learning in the Senior Phase includes all the official languages in South Africa, namely, Afrikaans, English, isiNdebele, isiXhosa, isiZulu, Sepedi (Sesotho sa Leboa), Sesotho, Setswana, Siswati, Tshivenda, Xitsonga – as well as Non-official Languages. These languages can be offered at different language levels.

Home Language is the language first acquired by learners. However, many South African schools do not offer the home languages of some or all of the enrolled learners but rather have one or two languages offered at Home Language level. As a result, the labels Home Language and First Additional Language refer to the proficiency levels at which the language is offered and not the native (Home) or acquired (as in the additional languages) language. For the purposes of this policy, any reference to Home Language should be understood to refer to the level and not the language itself.

The Home Language level provides for language proficiency that reflects the basic interpersonal communication skills required in social situations and the cognitive academic skills essential for learning across the curriculum. Emphasis is placed on the teaching of the listening, speaking, reading and writing skills at this language level. This level also provides learners with a literary, aesthetic and imaginative ability that will provide them with the ability to recreate, imagine, and empower their understandings of the world they live in. However, the emphasis and the weighting for listening and speaking from Grades 7 onwards are lower than those of the reading and writing skills.

The First Additional Language refers to a language which is not a mother tongue but which is used for certain communicative functions in a society, that is, medium of learning and teaching in education. The curriculum provides strong support for those learners who will use their first additional language as a language of learning and teaching. By the end of Grade 9, these learners should be able to use their home language and first additional language effectively and with confidence for a variety of purposes, including learning.

In South Africa, many children use their additional language, mostly English, as the Language of Learning and Teaching (LoLT). This means that they must reach a high level of competence in English. They need to be able to read and write well in English.

The First Additional Language level assumes that learners do not necessarily have any knowledge of the language when they arrive at school. The focus in the first few years of school is on developing learners' ability to understand and speak the language – basic interpersonal communication skills. In Grades 2 and 3 learners start to build literacy on this oral foundation. They also apply the literacy skills they have already learned in their Home Language.

In the Intermediate and Senior Phases, learners continue to strengthen their listening, speaking, reading and writing skills. At this stage the majority of children are learning through the medium of their First Additional Language, English, and should be getting more exposure to it. Greater emphasis is therefore placed on using the First Additional Language for the purposes of thinking and reasoning. This enables learners to develop their cognitive academic skills, which they need to study subjects like Natural Sciences, Mathematics, etc. in English. They also engage more with literary texts and begin to develop aesthetic and imaginative ability in their Additional Language.

By the time learners enter Senior Phase, they should be reasonably proficient in their First Additional Language with regard to both interpersonal and cognitive academic skills. However, the reality is that many learners still cannot communicate well in their Additional Language at this stage. The challenge in the Senior Phase, therefore, is to provide support for these learners at the same time as providing a curriculum that enables learners to meet the standards required in further grades. These standards must be such that learners can use their Additional Language at a high level of proficiency to prepare them for further or higher education or the world of work. It is therefore recommended that, where possible, learners in the Senior Phase be exposed to the same concepts in a two week cycle in both language levels.

2.1.2 The language skills

The Home Language curriculum is packaged according to the following skills:

	Listening and Speaking
	Reading and Viewing
	Writing and Presenting
	Language Structures and Conventions

2.1.3 Language Teaching Approaches

The approaches to teaching language in these documents are text-based, communicative, integrated and process orientated.

The text-based approach and the communicative approach are both dependent on the continuous use and production of texts. The text-based approach explores how texts work. The purpose of a text-based approach is to enable learners to become competent, confident and critical readers, writers, viewers and designers of texts. It involves listening to, reading, viewing and analysing texts to understand how they are produced and what their effects are. Through this critical interaction, learners develop the ability to evaluate texts. The text-based approach also involves producing different kinds of texts for particular purposes and audiences. This approach is informed by an understanding of how texts are constructed.

A communicative approach suggests that when learning a language, a learner should have a great deal of exposure to the target language and many opportunities to practise or produce the language by communicating for social or practical purposes. Language learning should be carried over into the classroom where literacy skills of reading/viewing and writing/presenting are learned by doing a great deal of reading and learning to write by doing much writing.

Language teaching happens in an integrated way, with the teacher modelling good practice, the learners practising the appropriate skills in groups before applying these skills on their own. The structure of each lesson should be one that engages the whole class before practising in groups and applying the new skill individually.

The process approach is used when learners produce oral and written texts. The learners engage in different stages of the listening, speaking, reading and writing processes. They must think of the audience and the purpose during these processes. This will enable them to communicate and express their thoughts in a natural way. For example, the teaching of writing does not focus on the product only but also focus on the process of writing. During process writing learners are taught how to generate ideas, to think about the purpose and audience, to write drafts, to edit their work and to present a written product that communicates their thoughts.

Approaches to teaching literature

The teaching of literature should focus on teaching for comprehension and will include the reading process strategies (pre-reading, reading and post/after reading). The main reason for reading literature in the classroom is to develop in learners a sensitivity to a special use of language that is more refined, literary, figurative, symbolic, and deeply meaningful than much of what else they may read. While most literary texts are forms of entertainment, amusement, or revelation, serious writers create novels, plays and poems because they have ideas, thoughts and issues; principles, ideologies and beliefs that they most want to share with or reveal to their prospective readers. Their imaginative use of language is an added method of revealing, reinforcing, and highlighting their ideas.

The teaching of literature is never easy, but it is impossible without the personal, thoughtful and honest interpretations and comments from the learners themselves. Unless they learn how to understand a literary text on their own, they will not have learned much. Teachers often need to restrain their own interpretations and ideas of literary texts, and allow as much learner participation as is reasonable. Interpretation is not about right or wrong. It is about searching for what is meaningful to the reader.

The best ways to approach the teaching of literature would involve some or all of the following.

- Make every attempt to read as much of the text in class as possible without breaking for any other activity. This should not take more than two weeks. It is essential that learners have a clear idea of what is going on at the most basic level of the text. Spending too long on reading a text is deleterious to a clear understanding of narrative line and plot. Some classes can read texts without such support. That is to be encouraged. Poetry should be taught, not poems. Read as many as possible in class, and ensure that learners write poems as well.
- Literary interpretation is essentially a university level activity, and learners in this phase do not have to learn this advanced level of interpretation. However, the purpose of teaching literary texts is to show learners how their home language can be used with subtlety, intelligence, imagination and flair. This means a close look at how text is being created, manipulated, and re-arranged to clarify and emphasise what is being expressed. Such work might involve examining the presence or absence of imagery; what kind of imagery is being selected by the writer and why; sentence structures and paragraphing, or the layout of poems; choice of words, continuing motifs through the text; the use of symbol, sound and colour where appropriate. Most of this work should be text based, but line by line analysis of any text is destructive to its subtlety.
- Creative writing should be closely attached to the study of any literary text. Writing activities that demand a close understanding of the text being read can prove very helpful in reaching more creative levels of appreciation on the part of the learners. Class discussions can be fruitful as long as everyone is involved. But class discussions that lead to written work activities serve a clearer purpose and benefit both.
- Finally, it is important to point out that Literature is not about right answers. A whole text means something, not just bits and pieces of it; a good reading of a text incorporates the whole text in interpretative, creative, personal, and exploratory practices.

The other approaches to literature which can be integrated with teaching for comprehension and for understanding the key features of literature are the chronological, the author, the theme and the genre approaches. These approaches can be combined.

In the chronological approach learners can research and combine the literature period with the historical events for the same timeframe.

In the author approach, learners can participate in a broad and deep study of an author especially in poetry and can link his/her poems with a particular historical period.

In the theme approach learners can look at themes such as justice, success, love, etc. across a number of poems or across different genres and relate them to events in real life situations. They can make judgments about the character's actions and comment on the theme.

Regarding the genre approach, learners can classify, compare and contrast different types of literary genre, e.g., the difference between the plots in a novel/ short story/drama/folklore.

Approaches to teaching language usage

The teaching of language structure should focus on how language is used and what can be done with language, i.e. how to make meaning, how to attend to problems and interests, influence friends and colleagues, and how to create a rich social life. The teaching of language structures should be a means to getting things done.

The teaching of language structures/ grammatical structures should therefore be text-based, communicative and integrated.

The following principles should be taken into consideration when teaching language structures:

- Grammar should be taught for constructing texts in their context of use - it is concerned, in other words, with real language.
- The application of grammar should not be restricted to the analysis of isolated sentences – it should explain the way in which sentences are structured to construct whole texts such as stories, essays, letters, reports which learners learn to read and write in school.
- Use of authentic materials such as dialogues, interviews, must be encouraged
- Link the language structure with functional uses of language in different social settings, e.g. expressing one's thoughts or feelings; introducing people; talking about or reporting things, actions, events or people in the environment, in the past or in the future; making requests; making suggestions; offering food or drinks and accepting or declining politely; giving and responding to instructions; comparing or contrasting things.
- Use classroom activities that relate language forms with functions, e.g. the past tense with a narrative essay and report writing; the subjunctive mood with a reflective essay.
- Focus on meaningful tasks. Acquiring the grammatical rules of the language does not necessarily enable the learner to use the language in a coherent and meaningful way. What interests us then concerns the structure and function beyond the sentence level, i.e. the way in which people use either spoken language (discourse) or written language (text) in coherent and meaningful ways.

2.2 TIME ALLOCATION FOR THE HOME LANGUAGE

The teaching time for the Home Language and the First Additional Language is 5 and 4 hours respectively per week as per policy prescription. However, in the Senior Phase, it is recommended that 5 hours be allocated to the language of learning and teaching and 4 hours to another compulsory language. Schools that are using First Additional Language as a language of learning and teaching, should therefore allocate 5 hours for that language.

All language content is taught within a two-week cycle (10 (8) hours). Teachers do not have to stick rigidly to this cycle but must ensure that the language skills, especially reading and writing are practised. The time allocation for the different language skills in Grade 7-9 is 36 weeks. Four weeks are for examination purposes – two weeks for June examination and another two weeks for December examination.

Timetabling should make provision for continuous double periods per week. In a two-week cycle the following time allocation for the different language skills is suggested.

Recommended time for the Language of Learning and Teaching

Skills	Time Allocation per Two-week Cycle (Hours)
	Grade 7	Grade 8	Grade 9
*Listening & speaking (Oral)	2 hours
*Reading and Viewing	3 hours 30 min (1 hour 45 mins for comprehension and 1 hour 45 mins for literary texts)
*Writing & Presenting	3 hours 30 min
Language Structures and Conventions	1 hour
	* Language Structures and Conventions and their usage are integrated within the time allocation of the four language skills. There is also time allocated for formal practice. Thinking and reasoning skills are incorporated into the skills and strategies required for Listening and Speaking, for Reading and Viewing, and for Writing and Presenting.

Recommended time for another compulsory language

Skills	Time Allocation per Two-week Cycle (Hours)
	Grade 7	Grade 8	Grade 9
*Listening & speaking (Oral)	2 hours
*Reading and Viewing	3 hours (1 hour 30 mins for comprehension and 1 hour 30 mins for literary texts)
*Writing & Presenting	2 hours
Language Structures and Conventions	1 hour
	* Language Structures and Conventions and their usage are integrated within the time allocation of the four language skills. There is also time allocated for formal practice. Thinking and reasoning skills are incorporated into the skills and strategies required for Listening and Speaking, for Reading and Viewing, and for Writing and Presenting.

2.3 LEARNING AND TEACHING SUPPORT MATERIALS

Learners should have the following for Home Language study in Grades 7 – 9:

GRADES 7 – 9
Core materials
Prescribed language textbook - Teacher Guide and Learner Book	√
Novel	√
Short stories	√
Folklore	√
Drama	√
Poetry	√
Dictionary	√
Media materials
Newspapers	√
Magazines	√
Radio talks/dramas	√
Television shows / dramas / documentaries	√

Home Language teachers should have:

- a) A Curriculum and Assessment Policy Statement
- b) Language in Education Policy
- c) The prescribed language textbook used by learners and other textbooks for resource purposes in addition to the prescribed one
- d) Dictionary (monolingual, bilingual, multilingual, thesaurus)
- e) Prescribed literature genres
- f) A variety of media materials: newspapers, magazines, brochures, flyers, etc.
- g) Access to audio/visual aids to be used in the classroom
- h) Other media resources (a variety of newspapers, magazines and brochures)

Classroom resources

- a) A range of texts to accommodate different reading levels, e.g. a selection of readers with sufficient copies of texts at each level for the class.
- b) A variety of media materials: newspapers, magazines, brochures, flyers, advertisements, posters, notices, etc.
- c) Audio/visual aids

SECTION 3: CONTENT AND TEACHING PLANS FOR LANGUAGE SKILLS

3.1 OVERVIEW OF LANGUAGE SKILLS – PROCESSES AND STRATEGIES, TEXT TYPE AND LENGTH

3.1.1 Listening and Speaking

Listening and Speaking are central to learning in all subjects. Through effective listening and speaking, learners collect and synthesise information, construct knowledge, solve problems, and express ideas and opinions. Critical listening skills enable learners to recognise values and attitudes embedded in texts and to challenge biased and manipulative language. Listening and speaking are different but co-dependent skills. Both are continually present informally in the classroom as learners receive and discuss information. Formal listening and speaking of special forms, e.g. debate, need focused instruction. Formal and informal listening and speaking are integrated with reading, writing and language practice, while speaking may give written text an oral form (e.g. reading aloud).

Listening process and strategies

Listening instruction will usually involve working through elements of the listening process. This is a three-phase activity which models independent listening strategies for decoding and understanding speech and other audio forms. Not every step of the process will be used on every occasion. For example, if learners are listening to a recorded explanation they will need to do a pre-listening activity which alerts them to the need for focused listening and helps them make associations with their own experience. Listening activities would help them recall details and evaluate the message. Post-listening might involve learners in responding to what they have heard through discussion.

Listening comprehension exercises and assessment give an opportunity to teach learners how to listen.

Pre-listening introduces learners to the listening situation. It allows them to activate their previous knowledge of the topic, and prepare for listening.

- Stimulate /activate background knowledge before listening
- Predict what text may be about from title
- Deal with any key vocabulary that learners may not be familiar with
- Set a pre-listening question to focus learners' attention
- Prepare learners physically with, for example, pencil and pad for note taking

During listening – questioning, recognising, matching, note-taking, interpreting: Learners:

- Analyse:
  - the message,
  - the speaker, and
  - the speakers' evidence.
- Make mental connections.

- Find meaning.
- Ask questions.
- Make inferences and confirm predictions.
- Reflect and evaluate.

Post-listening follows up on the listening experience. Learners

- Ask questions
- Talk about what the speaker said
- Review notes
- Summarise the presentation orally
- Transfer information from oral to written mode, e.g. use information to label a diagram
- Analyse and evaluate critically what they have heard
- Synthesise new information with prior knowledge
- Draw conclusions; evaluate; give own opinion; respond critically

DIFFERENT KINDS OF LISTENING
Listening for specific information	Listening, rather than merely hearing, remains key to any intelligent response to the world around us. In a world in which technology has created endless supplies of sounds, voices, music, and talking, learning to listen only to what may be significant or useful becomes crucial. Most of what is listed below will not be unfamiliar to learners in this phase, and teachers need to work only with such processes as they feel their class is still in need of. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Stimulate /activate background information before listening</li> <li>• Ascertain speaker’s purpose</li> <li>• Give complete attention to listening task and demonstrate interest</li> <li>• Search for meaning</li> <li>• Check understanding of message by making connections, making and confirming predictions, making inferences, evaluating and reflecting</li> <li>• Make meaningful notes outlining, mapping, categorizing, summarising, making checklists, paraphrasing, retelling, explaining</li> <li>• Distinguish message from speaker</li> <li>• Consider the relationship between context and choice of words and form</li> <li>• Identify, interpret and evaluate messages</li> <li>• Understand instructions, tracing directions on a map and follow procedures</li> <li>• Noting the main and supporting ideas</li> <li>• Process information by: comparing, obeying instructions, filling in gaps, detecting differences, ticking of items, transferring information, sequencing, matching, interpreting meaning</li> <li>• Follow up on presentation by: answering questions, reviewing notes, categorizing ideas, summarising, clarifying, reflecting, speaking or writing</li> </ul>
Listening comprehension and speaking	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Re-tell the story</li> <li>• Recall specific detail in a text</li> <li>• Reflect on values and messages in a text</li> <li>• Reflect on stereotyping and other biases</li> <li>• Discuss character, plot and setting</li> <li>• Express opinions</li> <li>• Clarifying questions</li> </ul>
Listening for critical analysis and evaluation	Most of the processes listed below are helpful in the study of literary texts, of advertisements and political documents. After a listening activity, teachers usually provide opportunities for discussion, but it is also useful to turn these activities into writing. A brief extract from a film sound track, for example, can be used to begin a narrative composition (“What exactly do you hear? Make sense of it.”). The selection of a number of ‘emotive’ words from a speech, or from a reading of a poem can be incorporated into a piece of writing appropriate to the context. Incorporate the words into a statement of contradiction to what has been said in the speech; or use the words in poem so that the understanding of the words is clear. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Identify and interpret persuasive, emotive and manipulative language, bias, prejudice and stereotyping</li> <li>• Distinguish between facts and opinions</li> <li>• Show awareness of and interpret tone, pace and language use</li> <li>• Respond to style, tone and register and evaluate correctly</li> <li>• Understand the logical sequence of information</li> <li>• Make judgments and provide evidence</li> <li>• Make assumptions and predict consequences</li> <li>• Respond to language use, word choice, format and pronunciation</li> </ul>

DIFFERENT KINDS OF LISTENING
Listening for appreciation and interaction	These listening activities are best practised in debates, small group discussions and any other structured discussion. Watching clips from films can also be helpful in analysing such characteristics as are listed below. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Respond in communication situations</li> <li>• Use turn-taking conventions in conversations</li> <li>• Defend a position</li> <li>• Ask questions to sustain communication</li> <li>• Respond to language, gestures, eye contact and body language</li> <li>• Show understanding of the relationship between language and culture by showing respect for cultural conventions</li> <li>• Respond to the aesthetic qualities of oral text, e.g. rhythm, pace, sound effects, imagery</li> </ul>

Length of texts to be used for listening comprehension

TASK	GRADE 7	GRADE 8	GRADE 9
Longer listening comprehension texts e.g. story, interviews, plays, news reports	150-200 / up to 5 mins	200-250 / up to 5 mins	250-300 / up to 5 mins
Shorter listening comprehension texts e.g. announcements, information texts, instructions, directions	60-70 words / 1-2 mins	70-80 words / 1-2 mins	80-100 words / 1-2 mins
Reading comprehension/ intensive reading texts	150-200 words	200-250 words	250-300 words

Speaking

In the Senior Phase learners should be taught or groomed to talk with ease and accurately as this is one of the most valuable assets for their lives, both personal and professional. Creating this self-confidence is more important than any specific technique or trick of public speaking. Learners need to know that when they speak there will be no mockery or ridicule, and they must be assured of the teacher's full support and encouragement at all times.

Learners in the Senior Phase should be taught most basic techniques of giving a good speech. A degree of tolerance might be shown to learners in view of the demands which oral interaction makes on them.

The speaking process and strategies

The teaching of speaking should include knowledge of the process and communication strategies (retracing, re-phrasing, substitution, demonstration, gesture, mime, sounds and appeal for assistance). The teaching of speaking process consists of the following stages:

- Planning - researching and organising
- Practising and presenting

Planning - researching and organising

Learners must be able to demonstrate planning, researching and organising skills for oral presentation by:

- Using appropriate register, style and voice according to audience, purpose, context and theme
- Using appropriate language (choice of words) by
  - Using action verbs, a variety of adjectives and adverbs to give a specific impression, details and a vivid description when speaking, for example, a speech, storytelling, debate
  - Using knowledge of synonyms and antonyms, homophones, homonyms and one word for a phrase
  - Using borrowed, inherited and new words
  - Using figurative language (figures of speech, idioms, proverbs), tone, mood or humour
  - Using abbreviations
  - Using roots, prefixes and suffixes
  - Using gender, plurals and diminutives
  - Using comparative and superlative degrees of adjectives and adverbs
- Demonstrating critical language awareness by:
  - Giving facts and expressing opinions
  - Expressing denotative and connotative meaning, implied meaning
  - Expressing values, attitudes, bias, stereotypes, emotive, persuasive and manipulative language e.g. in a persuasive speech
- The use of resources and reference material such as dictionaries and thesauruses to select effective and precise vocabulary and deliver presentations making use of notes and props, audio and/or visual aids and graphs to enhance the appeal and accuracy of presentations.

Practising and presenting

Learners must be able to practise and demonstrate oral presentation skills by:

- Speaking directly to the audience
- Referring to relevant sources that have been consulted
- Including a range of facts and examples according to task requirements
- Using effective introduction and conclusion (e.g. by using literary quotations, references to authoritative sources, anecdotes)
- Developing ideas and arguments - content is original, creative, coherent, shows logical development and arrangement of facts, examples and ideas

- Using elements of speech forms (e.g. introduction, first and second transitions, body, conclusion) in formulating rational arguments and applying the art of persuasion and debate
- Using organizational structures such as chronological, topical, cause-effect, compare-contrast, problem-solution to inform and to persuade
- Using correct intonation
- Presenting and advancing a clear argument and choosing appropriate types of proof (e.g. statistics, testimony, specific instances) that meet standard tests for evidence, including credibility, validity, and relevance
- Using forms of address or repetitions: ladies and gentlemen; I want to emphasise that ...
- Using appropriate language structures and conventions such as:
  - verb forms and auxiliaries to express tense and mood accurately
  - use parts of speech to express day-to-day oral communication
- Using rhetorical questions, pauses, repetition,
- Using verbal and non-verbal techniques (e.g. tone, voice projection / modulation, volume, pace / tempo, phrasing, eye contact, facial expressions, gestures and body language) for presentations

TYPES OF LISTENING AND SPEAKING TEXTS
Prepared speech	To inform/persuade/share and justify viewpoint or opinion. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Choosing an appropriate research topic                             <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Some form of research should be evident</li> <li>- Appropriate structure (introduction, body and conclusion)</li> <li>- Clear logical links with topic</li> </ul> </li> <li>- An argument or point of view that triggers a thoughtful response in others.</li> <li>- Clearly enunciated ideas showing awareness of audience and purpose</li> </ul>
Unprepared speech	To present a speech without preparing beforehand/to arrange logic promptly/employ speech techniques at short notice <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Use appropriate structure (introduction, body and conclusion)</li> <li>• Appropriate to the purpose</li> <li>• Use tone, voice projection, pace, eye contact, posture and gestures</li> <li>• Register and tone appropriate to the audience</li> <li>• Use appropriate and effective vocabulary and language structures.</li> <li>• Short but effective</li> </ul>
Prepared Reading (Reading aloud)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Understanding of the passage demonstrated</li> <li>• Passage fluently read</li> <li>• Voice projected</li> <li>• Words clearly enunciated</li> <li>• Good use of pause</li> <li>• Maintenance of audience rapport.</li> <li>• Choice of extract takes audience into account</li> <li>• Length of extract appropriate</li> </ul>

TYPES OF LISTENING AND SPEAKING TEXTS
Unprepared reading (reading aloud)	To share a text written by self or other; to entertain <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Understanding of the passage is demonstrated</li> <li>• Passage is fluently read</li> <li>• Voice is projected</li> <li>• Words clearly enunciated</li> <li>• Good use of pause</li> <li>• Maintenance of audience rapport.</li> <li>• Choice of extract takes audience into account</li> <li>• Length of extract appropriate</li> </ul>
Debate	To argue different viewpoints on a chosen topic. This is a formal oral form for public viewing and participation. Debating procedure: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Two teams of speakers, usually three per team, argue for or against a motion. Motions make claims or propositions, e.g. 'The World Cup was good for our economy', rather than simply 'The World Cup'.</li> <li>• Debate proceedings are controlled by a chairperson who:             <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Introduces the motion and gives some background to it</li> <li>- Introduces each speaker</li> <li>- Maintains order</li> <li>- Keeps time – speakers are given time limits</li> <li>- Manages the discussion when the motion is opened to the floor (see below)</li> <li>- Manages the vote (see below)</li> </ul> </li> <li>• The chair introduces the motion and asks the first speaker for the proposition (the team arguing for the motion) to speak.</li> <li>• The first speaker for the proposition presents arguments supporting the motion.</li> <li>• The first speaker for the opposition (those speaking against the motion) presents arguments opposing the motion and may also rebut (attack) the first speaker's arguments.</li> <li>• The second speaker for the proposition builds on the team's arguments, presents new arguments, and rebuts the previous speaker's points.</li> <li>• The second speaker for the opposition does the same.</li> <li>• The motion is opened to the floor (audience) for discussion and questions.</li> <li>• Following the general discussion the opposition sums up first. The third speaker repeats the team's main arguments and tries to persuade the audience to vote against the motion, giving reasons. This speaker may also rebut previous arguments.</li> <li>• The third speaker for the proposition does the same.</li> <li>• The debate may be concluded and a result obtained in different ways, e.g. by having the speeches assessed (scored) by a judge, or putting the motion to the vote.</li> </ul>
Dialogue	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Reflect a conversation between two or more people.</li> <li>• Initiate and sustain conversations</li> <li>• Use turn taking conventions, maintain discourse</li> <li>• Defend a position</li> <li>• Listen to each other, negotiate</li> <li>• Fill in gaps and encourage the speaker</li> <li>• Clarify issues</li> <li>• Share ideas and experiences and show understanding of concepts</li> </ul>

TYPES OF LISTENING AND SPEAKING TEXTS
Interview	To elicit information or point of view from an individual or panel <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Use questioning, persuasion, note-taking, summarising, listening skills and non-verbal skills</li> <li>• Plan and prepare: determine goal, background information, outline, questions, time, place, sequencing, physical environment (see writing features)</li> <li>• Use interviewing techniques in phases: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Introduction (identifying self; stating purpose)</li> <li>- Rapport (creating atmosphere of trust)</li> <li>- Questions (ask general to specific, relevant questions; use mature, sensitive, respectful persuasive language; listen actively; evaluate response, respond effectively to demonstrate knowledge)</li> <li>- Summary (record responses by taking notes; summarise; sequence and arrange responses and important details in logical order)</li> <li>- Closure (thank interviewee; provide contact details)</li> </ul> </li> </ul>
Report (formal and informal)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Give exact feedback of a situation, e.g. accident, any findings</li> <li>• Reflect a title, introduction (background, purpose and scope), body (Who? Write a short conclusion. Wrap up and restate the main point. Draw upon the main points to formulate a personal opinion concerning the topic of the report</li> </ul> </li> <li>• Use visual aids, such as posters or overhead transparencies, and practise using them while rehearsing</li> <li>• Use notes to make a final outline of the report</li> <li>• Use notes when presenting the report</li> </ul>

TYPES OF LISTENING AND SPEAKING TEXTS
Forum /panel Discussion	To share different opinions or information from different sources The speakers should: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• explore a range of ideas</li> <li>• listen to one another</li> <li>• concede points when necessary</li> <li>• not interrupt other speakers</li> <li>• make logical links between points</li> <li>• keep to the topic</li> <li>• try to bring people into discussion               <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- interrupting politely</li> <li>- expressing opinions and support reasons</li> </ul> </li> <li>• Each speaker talks about a particular aspect of the topic</li> <li>• Use of conventional phrases</li> <li>• Duties of the chairperson               <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Keeping order</li> <li>- Managing time</li> <li>- Keeping to the agenda</li> <li>- Encouraging participation</li> <li>- Remaining neutral</li> <li>- Calling for proposal or votes</li> </ul> </li> </ul>
Role plays	Learners are presented with a situation, often a problem or an incident, to which they have to respond by assuming a particular role. The enactment may be unrehearsed, or the learner may be briefed in the particular role to be played. Such assessments are open-ended and are person-centred.
Informal discussion / conversation	To share ideas, opinions and viewpoints with individuals groups <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Initiate and sustain conversations</li> <li>• Turn taking conventions</li> <li>• Defend a position</li> <li>• Negotiate</li> <li>• Fill in gaps and encourage the speaker</li> <li>• Share ideas and experiences and show understanding of concepts</li> </ul>
Introducing a speaker	To give an audience information about a speaker/guest <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Obtain relevant information from the speaker</li> <li>• Use a formal style or register</li> <li>• Create interest and expectation in the audience, e.g. by telling the audience about relevant background information and achievements</li> <li>• Build expectation through, e.g. pauses and inflection</li> <li>• End strongly and confidently</li> </ul>
Vote of thanks	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• To thank a speaker after delivering a speech to an audience</li> <li>• Use a formal register</li> <li>• Listen carefully to the speaker, to point out some highlights in the address</li> <li>• Mention strong points in the address</li> <li>• End strongly and confidently</li> </ul>

3.1.2 Reading and Viewing

Well-developed reading and viewing skills are central to successful learning across the curriculum. Learners develop proficiency in reading and viewing a wide range of literary and non-literary texts, including visual texts. Learners recognise how genre and register reflect the purpose, audience and context of texts. Through classroom and independent reading, learners become critical and creative thinkers.

Reading/viewing combines two elements: 1) learning and applying strategies for decoding and understanding text 2) learning and applying knowledge of text features. Both aspects should be present in reading/ viewing instruction of literary and non-literary texts.

Reading/viewing content is arranged in: 1) reading for comprehension 2) reading for formal study (setworks) and 3) extended independent reading.

Reading process and strategies

Reading instruction may involve three steps to enhance the understanding of texts. Not every step of the process will be used on every occasion. For example, if learners are reading an unfamiliar text type or genre, they will need to do a pre-reading activity which alerts them to surface features of this text type, and helps them make associations with their own experience. During-reading activities would help them analyse its structure and language features in more detail. Post-reading might involve learners in trying to reproduce the genre in a written text of their own.

- Pre-reading
- During-Reading
- Post- reading activities

Pre-reading

Learners may be prepared for the text in various ways depending on the type of the text and the level of the learner. This activates associations and previous knowledge.

- Learners are encouraged to form certain expectations about the text based on clues from accompanying pictures or photographs, the text type, layout, title page, table of contents, chapters, glossary, index, appendix, footnotes.
- Skimming and scanning text features: titles, headings and sub-headings, captions, illustrations, graphs, charts, diagrams, bold-faced print, italics, headings, subheadings, numbering, captions, illustrations, graphs, diagrams, maps, icons, pull down menus, key word searches
- Skimming for main ideas and offering own ideas in a pre-reading discussion
- Scanning for supporting details
- Predicting using the information gained from skimming and scanning

During-reading

- Inferring meaning of unfamiliar words and images by using word attack skills and contextual clues
- Rereading / reviewing
- Visualizing
- Deducing meaning (analogy, context, word formation etc.)
- Questioning
- Making notes (main and supporting ideas)
- Summarising main and supporting ideas in point form / paragraph as per required length
- Clarifying issues

- Making inferences
- Explaining / evaluating writer's inferences and conclusions

Post-reading

- Answering questions on the text from lower to higher order
- Drawing conclusions / own opinion
- Evaluating/ discussing different interpretations of a text
- Comparing and contrasting
- Synthesizing/ writing a summary
- Exploiting the text for grammar and vocabulary learning, e.g. re-write in a different tense
- Reproducing the genre in writing of their own (where appropriate)
- Critical language awareness:
  - facts and opinion
  - direct and implied meaning
  - denotation and connotation
  - socio-political and cultural background of texts and author
  - the effect of selections and omissions on meaning
  - relationships between language and power
  - emotive and manipulative language, bias, prejudice, discrimination, stereotyping, language varieties, inferences, assumptions, arguments, purpose of including or excluding information
  - create new texts, i.e. change a narrative into a drama, dialogue; exploit the text for grammar and vocabulary learning, e.g. rewrite in a different tense.

Interpretation of visual texts (range of graphic and visual texts):

For many learners, the screen rather than the printed page is the source of most of their information. Visual literacy is an important area of study, and the computer screen a rich source of material. Examine how layout is key in a popular website; how attention is gained by advertisers; how movement and colour play key roles in persuading the user to move to other sites.

- Persuasive techniques: Emotive language, persuasion, bias, manipulative language
- How language and images reflect and shape values and attitudes
- Impact of font types and sizes, headings and captions
- Analyze, interpret, evaluate and respond to a range of cartoons/comic strips

Reading activities and the kind of reader envisioned

Prepared Reading (Reading aloud)

- Use of tone, voice projection, pace, eye contact, posture and gestures
- Pronounce words without distorting meaning

Unprepared reading (reading aloud)

- Read fluently according to purpose
- Pronounce words without distorting meaning
- Use tone, voice projection, pace, eye contact, posture and gestures correctly

Reading comprehension

- For close and critical reading of the text (reading comprehension)
- To understand the text comprehensively - text features – titles, illustrations, graphs, charts, diagrams, headings, subheadings, numbering, captions, headlines, format, e.g. newspaper columns, etc.
- To demonstrate independent reading (reading widely for pleasure, information and learning)
- Critical language awareness (being aware of the denotation and connotation of words and that it carries hidden meanings and messages, e.g. stereotypes, the speaker's prejudices and intentions)

INTENSIVE READING

a) Intensive reading of shorter written texts for COMPREHENSION at a word level

Learners apply a variety of strategies to decoding texts. They build vocabulary through word-attack skills and exposure.

- Use dictionaries, thesauruses and other reference works to determine the meaning, spelling, pronunciation and part of speech of unfamiliar words
- Identify the meaning of common prefixes, (e.g. bi-, un- or re-) and common suffixes, (e.g. -ful).
- Determine the meaning of words and their connection to word families using knowledge of common roots, suffixes and prefixes
- Use textual context (e.g. in-sentence definitions), cues (e.g. commas, quotes) and graphic cues (e.g. bold face) to determine the meaning of unfamiliar words
- Recognise and use common, idioms and proverbs, e.g. the Midas touch.
- Distinguish between denotation and connotation
- Identify the origin and use of new words, e.g. street slang, dialects, borrowed words (e.g. ubuntu, dorp, bunny chow).

- Distinguish between commonly confused words: homophones, homonyms, homographs, synonyms, e.g. allusion/illusion; complement/ compliment; imply/ infer
- Recognise a wide range of abbreviations, e.g. initialism, acronyms, clipped, truncation
- Apply knowledge of grammar to decode meaning. See Language Structures – Reference List below.

b) Intensive reading of shorter written texts for COMPREHENSION at sentence and paragraph level

Learners apply their grammatical knowledge to understand sentence construction and the organisation of texts. Text study at this level provides an opportunity for integrated teaching of language structures.

- Identify and use the meaning and functions of language structures and conventions in texts. See Language Structures – Reference List below.
- Identify the structure of texts used for different purposes, (e.g. description, definition, cause-and-effect) across the curriculum and their related transitional words/signal words/conjunctions, (e.g. on the one hand, firstly, because). See Writing/ Presenting for appropriate text types.

c) Intensive reading of shorter written texts for COMPREHENSION at a whole text level

Learners apply their knowledge of genre and formal text study to understand the meaning, intention and effect of the whole text

- Relate the text to their own experience
- Identify the genre and its purpose, e.g. an argument which seeks to persuade
- Identify and explain author's attitude and intentions
- Synthesise parts of texts or whole texts in order to reach conclusions
- Draw conclusions; form and justify own opinion

d) Intensive reading of shorter texts for SUMMARY AND NOTE TAKING.

Learners apply their understanding of text features to summarise text. See reading strategies above.

- Skim and scan for main ideas and theme
- Separate main ideas from supporting details
- Paraphrase the main ideas (write them in own words)
- Sequence the sentences and use conjunctions and logical connectives to link them together into a text

e) Intensive reading of shorter texts for CRITICAL LANGUAGE AWARENESS.

Learners apply their understanding of how language can create and maintain power relationships between text producer and reader. They analyse the point of view from which the text is written.

- Identify and discuss emotive and manipulative language
- Identify and discuss bias and prejudice, and any stereotyping
- Identify and discuss assumptions and explain their impact
- Identify and discuss implied meaning and inference
- Identify and discuss denotation and connotation
- Suggest the purpose of including or excluding information
- Recognise the writer/producer's point of view

f) Intensive reading of MULTIMODAL AND VISUAL TEXTS (Multimodal texts make use of visual and written material in a single text, e.g. advertisements, cartoons. They can also combine this with spoken language and gesture.)

Learners apply their knowledge of images and visual elements to understanding how these support writing in multimodal texts. Learners apply the meta-language of film study to understand and appreciate visual text elements and their effect.

- Identify and discuss the way visual elements are integrated with written text in multimodal texts, e.g. layout, illustrations, graphic information
- Identify and discuss the purpose and message in visual texts for information, e.g. graphs, tables, documentaries, charts, maps
- Identify and discuss the message and effectiveness of visual elements of advertisements and the relationship between the written and the visual elements
- Identify and discuss the purpose and message in visual texts which show relationships, e.g. mind-maps, diagrams, pie charts, maps, plans
- Identify and discuss the purpose, aesthetic qualities and design of visual texts created for aesthetic purposes, e.g. photographs, film, design elements
- Identify and discuss the purpose and message of visual texts created for enjoyment and entertainment, e.g. film, cartoons, music videos, comic strips
- Identify and discuss the message and effectiveness of visual texts which support speaking, e.g. posters, diagrams, data projection
- (Film study - for enrichment only) Identify, understand, analyse and evaluate the relationship between sound, speech, action and visual elements in film and other audio-visual forms

FORMAL STUDY OF LITERARY TEXTS

Learners read, evaluate and respond to the aesthetic qualities of literary text. They apply the meta-language of literature study to understand and appreciate elements of literary texts.

NOTE: The emphasis in formal text study will change depending on the setwork/chosen text.

- Understand the distinctive qualities of different literary forms, e.g. that a poem has different characteristics from a novel
- Identify and explain figurative language and rhetorical devices as they appear in different texts, e.g. simile, metaphor, personification, alliteration, onomatopoeia, hyperbole, contrast, irony, sarcasm, anti-climax, symbol, euphemism, pun, understatement
- Identify and explain writer's/producer's intention
- Explain choice and effectiveness in poetry of how elements support the message/theme. Elements may include figures of speech, imagery, rhyme, refrain, rhythm, alliteration
- Explain choice and effectiveness in drama of how elements support the message/theme. In addition to figures of speech and imagery, elements may include plot, characters, characterisation, stage directions, dramatic irony, setting, dialogue, monologue, soliloquy, flashback ,etc. In addition, for film, camera work and editing, e.g. close-up, long shot, music and sound track, special effects, colour.
- Explain choice and effectiveness in short stories/novels/films of how elements support the message/theme. In addition to figures of speech and imagery, elements may include role of the narrator, structural elements, e.g. plot, exposition, rising action, conflict, climax, falling action/anticlimax, denouement/resolution, setting

EXTENDED INDEPENDENT READING/VIEWING

Learners practise the strategies modelled in intensive reading and formal text study for extra-curricular independent reading for pleasure and research. Teacher guidance on access and level is crucial to this part of the reading programme.

- Access libraries and know book storage conventions
- Provide evidence of extended reading/viewing in the form of speeches, discussions and book/film/programme reviews
- Read/view a wide range of whole texts, e.g. books, magazines, newspapers, websites, films, documentaries, TV series both during and after class.

Examples of question types

Knowledge questions	What happened after ...? Can you name the ... Describe what happened at ... Who spoke to ...? What is the meaning of ....?
Comprehension questions	Who was the key character ...? Can you provide an example of ...? Can you explain in your own words ....?
Application questions	Can you think of any other instance where ....? Do you remember we were looking at metaphors – how would you explain the metaphor in this line?
Analysis questions	How was this similar to ...? How was this different to ...? What was the underlying theme of ...? Why do you think .....
Synthesis questions	We've learnt different views about John – can you put them all together and describe his character? What kind of person is he?
Evaluation questions	How effective is .....? Can you think of a better way of ....? Which of these two poems do you prefer? Why?

Selecting a text-type or genre

Teachers should ensure that learners read a range of texts and genres during the year. There should be a balance between short and long texts and between reading for different purposes, e.g. aesthetic purposes (formal text study in set work) texts for mass distribution in the media, visual texts for enjoyment (see “Texts used for integrated teaching of language skills”).

TYPES OF READING TEXTS
Poetry	There are essentially only two questions a learner needs to ask of a poem: What is being said? How do I know? The second question adds conviction to the answer of the first; the first determines what the second question will reveal. All literary writers write because they have something to say—something they consider at least interesting, and usually of some importance to the cultural group for which they are writing. We study the text to support, corroborate, clarify and reveal what writers have to say to us. It also involves looking at the figurative use of language; of the way sentences, verse lines and poems as a whole are presented; of the choice of image, rhythm, pace and sound; of the emotive feelings that such images generate. All this in an attempt to reach a tentative conclusion at best as to what the poet is hoping we will sooner or later discover to be a meaning of the text. There is seldom finality in the study of a good poem. The following aspects will enhance understanding of the intended message <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• literal meaning</li> <li>• figurative meaning</li> <li>• mood</li> <li>• theme and message</li> <li>• imagery</li> <li>• figures of speech/ imagery, word choice (diction), sound devices, tone, rhetorical devices, emotional responses, lines, words, stanzas, rhyme, link, rhythm, punctuation, refrain, repetition, alliteration (consonance and assonance), enjambment</li> </ul>

TYPES OF READING TEXTS
Drama	Drama is not only about words and language: it is about movement, voice, light and dark; interaction; staging. How the play moves (the pace) is essential; how characters interact, what they are doing when they are not talking; how facial expression can shift the meaning of a line—all this can be lost if the play is read as if it were a novel. Nevertheless, it is never a good idea to show 'the video' of the play until the play has been fully studied discussed and 'staged' by a class. Without that, the 'video' becomes the truth of the play, and little will dislodge the specific interpretation of that particular production. Imagination plays a key role in the reading of drama. Visualising a stage and what actors look like, and working out how many different ways a line or speech can be said are vital components of working with drama in the classroom. Plot and subplots; the way the playwright presents the characters, and how they develop through the play; setting and background (only where absolutely essential to an understanding of the play); pace, use of image and symbol; dramatic techniques like soliloquy; dramatic irony, stage directions, the creation of tension, or humour, or tragedy are all worth studying through the dramatic reading of the play. The following aspects will enhance the learners' understanding of the text: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• plot and sub-plot (exposition, rising action, conflict, climax, falling action/ anticlimax, denouement/resolution, foreshadowing and flashback)</li> <li>• characterization</li> <li>• role of narrator/persona/ point of view</li> <li>• theme and messages</li> <li>• background and setting – relation to character and theme</li> <li>• dramatic structure: plot, subplot (exposition, rising action and climax)</li> <li>• mood and tone</li> <li>• ironic twist/ending</li> <li>• stage directions</li> <li>• link between dialogue /monologue/soliloquy and action</li> <li>• dramatic irony</li> <li>• time line</li> </ul>
Film study (as enrichment activity)	Film study is not the same as reading a novel. Although the treatment of a film can follow the patterns of teaching more typical of drama and novel, the item 'cinematographic techniques' below needs special attention. 'Reading' a film with sensitivity and accuracy depends in large measure on the extent to which the viewer is conscious of editing, cutting, camera shots, montage, mise en scène, music, costume, lighting and sound. Being able to read a film at this level immeasurably enriches one's watching of films: the viewer moves away from the more 'passive gazing' which usually means only following the narrative line; to an 'informed attending' that adds to one's viewing a greater depth, and a clearer understanding of just how director, editor, and the rest are manipulating what we watch to make us feel and react in certain ways. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• dialogue and action, and their relation to character and theme;</li> <li>• plot, subplot, character portrayal, conflict, dramatic purpose and dramatic</li> <li>• irony, ironic twist and ending;</li> <li>• dramatic structure and stage directions</li> <li>• message and theme and how they are woven into all aspects of the text;</li> <li>• cinematographic techniques (visual, audio and audio-visual) such as the use of colour, subtitle, composition, dialogue, music, sound, lighting, editing, framing, styles of shot, camera techniques, camera movement, foregrounding and backgrounding.</li> </ul>

TYPES OF READING TEXTS
Novel, Short stories, Folklore	Narratives (novel, short story and folklore) need to be read, discussed, and enjoyed. Reading the texts aloud and or playing in class is often of great value, especially if learners are not keen readers, or have some resistance to reading. Read fast, and keep the interest alive by using the simple reading acts of anticipation or prediction; evaluation; and appreciation. Simple activities involving imaginative summary (summarising the story so far to a friend in a limited number of words; keeping a visual graph going in the classroom; opening dossiers of key characters; looking for and noting, appearances of words and images that emphasise ideas and themes in the novel) can help to keep the learners up to speed. After the first reading, learners need to become aware of the differences between narrative (what happens next?) and plot (why does that happen?); explore possible meanings and interpretations of the story; examine how the writer has used language to create character (description and direct speech); how characters interact; setting (descriptive language, and incidental references throughout the novel); and where necessary attempt to unravel underlying ideas, thoughts and ideologies that control the direction of the narrative as a whole. All cultures, and most people, live lives imbued with stories. Whatever the teacher does with novels and stories in the classroom, the sheer pleasure of engaging in a good story must remain paramount. The following aspects will enhance the learners' understanding of the text: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• genre and types</li> <li>• plot, subplot (exposition, rising action, conflict, climax, falling action/anticlimax, denouement/ resolution, foreshadowing and flashback)</li> <li>• conflict</li> <li>• characters</li> <li>• characterization</li> <li>• role of narrator</li> <li>• messages and themes</li> <li>• background, setting and relation to character and theme</li> <li>• mood, ironic twist / ending</li> <li>• suspense and surprise</li> </ul>
Other reading texts	Posters, charts, maps, graphs, cartoons, magazines, newspapers, websites, films, documentaries, TV series both during and after class.

TEXTS USED FOR THE INTEGRATED TEACHING OF LANGUAGE SKILLS IN THE SENIOR PHASE

In addition to literary texts for formal study, texts to be covered in the Senior Phase include written, visual and multimedia texts with different purposes. Some texts will be studied for their aesthetic qualities; some texts will be studied as examples and as models for writing

Literary texts for formal study. 3.1.3 Writing and Presenting

Writing is a powerful instrument of communication that allows learners to construct and communicate thoughts and ideas coherently. Frequent writing practice across a variety of contexts, tasks and subjects enables learners to communicate functionally and creatively. Writing which is appropriately scaffolded using writing frames (as and when necessary), produces competent, versatile writers who will be able to use their skills to develop and present appropriate written, visual and multi-media texts for a variety of purposes.

Writing is important because it enables learners to think about grammar and spelling. This encourages learners to process the language, speeds up language acquisition and increases accuracy. In the previous phases, learners learnt to write a range of creative and informational texts, using writing frames as support. Learners in the Senior Phase are expected to write particular text types independently. They will also employ the writing process to produce well organised, grammatically correct writing texts.

Writing process and strategies

Good writing is a skill that needs to be developed and supported. Although reading is an important source of input, it is only through writing, that writing skills are developed. Writing instruction will usually involve working through the writing process. However, not every step of the process will be used on every occasion. For example, if learners are writing a familiar text type, they will not need to analyse its structure and language features in so much detail. There may also be occasions when teachers need to focus on sentence construction or paragraph writing, or learners write texts without drafts in preparation for the examination. The writing process consists of the following steps:

- Planning / Pre-writing
- Drafting
- Revising
- Editing
- Proofreading
- Presenting

Planning/ Pre-writing

- Analyse the structure, language features and register of the text type that has been selected
- Decide on the purpose and audience of a text to be written and/or designed
- Determine the requirements of format, style, point of view
- Brainstorm ideas using, for example mind maps, spider web lists, flow charts or lists
- Consult relevant sources, select relevant information

Drafting

- Use main and supporting ideas effectively from the planning process
- Produce a first draft which takes into account purpose, audience, topic and genre
- Determine word choice by using appropriate, descriptive and evocative words, phrases and expressions to make the writing clear and vivid
- Show own point of view by explaining values, beliefs and experiences
- Establish an identifiable voice and style by adapting language and tone to suit the audience and purpose for writing

- Read drafts critically and get feedback from others (classmates);
- Include specific details of the required text (use of quotations, substantiating and motivating the argument)

Revising, editing, proofreading and presenting

- Use set criteria for overall evaluation of own work and others' writing for improvement
- Refine word choice, sentence and paragraph structure ( insert additional information, use appropriate transition words)
- Work on the sequencing and linking of paragraphs
- Eliminate ambiguity, verbosity, redundancy, slang and offensive language
- Evaluate content, style and register
- Use punctuation marks, spelling and grammar correctly and appropriately
- Prepare the final draft including layout, for example, headings and fonts
- Present the text

Language structures and conventions during the writing

Learners will learn how language is used, and will develop a shared language for talking about language (a 'meta-language'), so that they can evaluate their own and other texts critically in terms of meaning, effectiveness and accuracy. They will also be able to use this knowledge to experiment with language to build meaning from word and sentence levels to whole texts, and to see how a text and its context are related. Through interacting with a variety of texts, learners extend their use of vocabulary and correctly apply their understanding of Language Structures and Conventions.

Knowledge of Language Structures and Conventions will enable learners to produce coherent and cohesive texts. Language structures should be taught for constructing texts in their context of use. The application of language structures should not be restricted to the analysis of isolated sentences. It should explain the way in which sentences are structured to construct whole texts such as stories, essays, letters and reports which learners learn to read and write in school.

Language conventions (spelling and punctuation):

- Use of spacing, capital letters, commas, quotation marks, colons, underlining, italics, bolding, semi colons, apostrophe, hyphens, dashes, parentheses
- Use knowledge of spelling patterns and rules to spell words correctly:
  - Knowledge of word patterns and families
  - Knowledge of roots, prefixes and suffixes
  - Knowledge of syllabication
- Use dictionaries and spell checkers

- Use abbreviation forms appropriate to different media and audiences

Word choice

- Use a variety of action verbs, adjectives and adverbs to give a specific impression and details and vivid description when writing, for example, a narrative essay, descriptive essay
- Use appropriate synonyms, antonyms, homophones, homonyms, one word for a phrase to express concepts
- Use formal and informal language (slang/colloquialism, jargon) appropriately
- Use borrowed and inherited words appropriately
- Give facts and express opinions
- Express denotative, connotative, implied/contextual meaning
- Position themselves as authors through implicit and explicit messages
- Express themselves on values, attitudes, bias, stereotypes, emotive language, persuasive and manipulative language e.g. in persuasive texts such as argumentative essays, newspaper articles
- Show respect by using certain words when writing texts such as dialogue, interviews
- Use resources and reference materials such as dictionaries and thesauruses to select effective and precise vocabulary.

Register, style and voice

- Use appropriate register: formal, informal e.g. Using informal/conversational style and first person in a friendly letter, formal language in an official letter
- Use figurative language (figures of speech, idioms, proverbs), tone, mood or humour, appropriately
- Speak directly to the reader
- Show passion towards message
- Use different points of view/perspective

Sentence construction

- Write a variety of sentences and sentences of various lengths
- Use parts of speech appropriately
- Use subject, verb, object, tenses, moods, affirmatives, negations, modal verbs, active or passive voice, direct and indirect speech
- Use interrogatives (why, when, how, what)
- Use different types of sentences, e.g. statements, questions, simple, compound, complex, compound-complex sentences

- Use conjunctions, pronouns, adverbs and transitional words to create cohesive sentences
- Use different types of pronouns to show focus, emphasis, the objective case and to eliminate verbosity
- Use correct word order in sentences to demonstrate interest and emphasis
- Use concord accurately

Paragraph writing

- Write different parts of a paragraph: topic sentence, supporting and main ideas, an effective introduction, body and conclusion and a closing sentence
- Write different paragraphs and texts using related signal or transition words and phrases such as:
  - Chronological /sequential order: first, second, third, before, after, when, later, until, at last, next, recently, previously, afterwards
  - Explanation/Cause and effect: hence, consequently, because, for this reason, since, as a result of, is due to, therefore, thus, consequently, hence, it follows that, if...then
  - Procedure: first, second, third
  - Compare/contrast: similar, different, smaller than, bigger than, however, but
  - Order of importance: always, finally
  - Spatial order: above, below, left, right, etc.
  - Generalizations: generally, in conclusion
  - Choice paragraph: in my opinion, belief, idea, understanding, I think that, I consider, I believe, it seems to me, I prefer/ like/dislike/hope/feel
  - Classification paragraph: is a kind of, can be divided into, is a type of, falls under, belongs to, is a part of, fits into, is grouped with, is related to, is associated with
  - Description paragraph: above, below, beside, near, north/east/south/west, size, colour, shape, purpose, length, width, mass/weight, speed, is like, resembles
  - Evaluation paragraph: good/bad, correct/incorrect, moral/immoral, right/wrong, important/trivial, suggest, recommend, advise, argue
  - Definition paragraph: is defined as, is a kind of paragraph that defines an idea objectively.
  - Concluding paragraph: to conclude, to sum up, in summary, in short, as you can see

TYPES OF WRITING TEXTS
ESSAYS
Narrative essay	Narrative writing is largely the presentation of a series of event in some meaningful order. The following are possible features of a narrative essay: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Write a story /a past event / fiction</li> <li>• Use a story line that is convincing</li> <li>• Usually use the past tense</li> <li>• Use captivating introductory paragraph</li> <li>• Reflect a point to be made</li> <li>• Use unusually interesting ending</li> <li>• Ensure sustained interest with style, rhetorical device and action</li> <li>• Highlight sensory details</li> <li>• Use descriptive elements</li> </ul>
Descriptive essay	Description is used often more to create atmosphere and mood: films do this visually, writers do this with words, where the choice of words is more determined by their connotations than by the accuracy of their denotative use. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Describe someone / something to allow the reader to experience the topic vividly</li> <li>• Create a picture in words</li> <li>• Choose words and expressions carefully to achieve the desired effect</li> <li>• Use images of sight, sound, hearing, taste and touch</li> <li>• Use figures of speech</li> </ul>
Argumentative essay	Argumentative essays present an argument for or against something ('why I believe that women are stronger than men'). <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Argumentative essays tend to be subjectively argued; the defence or attack is consistent and as well argued as possible, but it will inevitably be one-sided; the conclusion clearly states where the writer stands and why.             <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Show a specific opinion or viewpoint and argue to defend or motivate a position</li> <li>- Sustain view clearly throughout</li> <li>- Try to convince the reader to share his or her point of view subjectively</li> <li>- Start with the writer's view of the topic in an original and striking way</li> <li>- Give a range of arguments to support and substantiate view</li> <li>- Focus on points for OR against a statement</li> <li>- Express subjective and strong opinions</li> <li>- Use a variety of rhetorical devices and persuasive techniques</li> <li>- Use emotive language</li> <li>- Conclude with a strong, clear and convincing statement reflecting the writer's opinion.</li> </ul> </li> </ul>

TYPES OF WRITING TEXTS
Discursive essay	Discursive essays tend to be more balanced, and present various sides of a particular argument; the structure is careful and clearly planned; the tendency is towards objectivity, but the writer can be personal; while emotive language is possible, the best arguments here are won because they make good, reasonable sense. The conclusion leaves the reader in no doubt where the writer stands. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Aim to give an objective and balanced view of both sides of an argument</li> <li>• Consider various aspects of the topic under discussion</li> <li>• Present opposing views impartially</li> <li>• Balance the arguments for and against</li> <li>• Writing must be lucid, rational and objective.</li> <li>• Make well-reasoned and well-supported statements</li> <li>• Use an unemotional and convincing tone without being condescending</li> <li>• Conclude with an indication of particular opinion</li> </ul>
Reflective essay	Reflective essays present the writer's views, ideas, thoughts and feelings on a particular topic, usually something they feel strongly about. It tends to be personal rather than subjective; it needs a careful structure, but does not have to present a clear conclusion. Nor does it have to present a balanced discussion, although it might. It can be witty or serious. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Contemplate an idea</li> <li>• Give emotional reactions and feelings.</li> <li>• Reflect subjectivity where feelings and emotions play a major role</li> <li>• Aim to recreate recollections or feelings of the writer in the reader</li> <li>• Express ideas, thoughts or feelings revealing sincerity and personal involvement</li> </ul>
Expository essay (for enrichment)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Communicate ideas or information in a logical way</li> <li>• Explain ideas or give facts in a systematic way</li> <li>• Research ideas and support with facts and figures</li> <li>• Clarify any unfamiliar concepts</li> <li>• Organise logically and take the reader from the known to the unknown</li> <li>• Write generally in the present tense</li> </ul>

TRANSACTIONAL TEXTS
Official / Formal letter	While the writing of friendly/ informal letter has largely been replaced by electronic media, e.g., email, fax, and sms among others, learners must still be taught to write letters. The range of writing should span from ordinary letters to the immediate family and friends to informal letters to the press, among others. Learners should write genuine formal letters, and, where possible, send them off and await a reply. Letters requesting information about products, universities, travel, professions, if sent to appropriate concerns, will almost certainly be replied to. The value of the formal letter will then become obvious. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Practise different kinds of formal letters, e.g. a letter of application, a letter to the editor of a newspaper, a letter of complaint, etc.</li> <li>• Adhere to different requirements of formal letters such as style and structure</li> <li>• Write in direct and simple language</li> <li>• Remember that the intended audience should understand what is communicated for the results/ response to be positive</li> <li>• Writing should be clear and straightforward, concise and logical</li> <li>• Contain an introduction, a body and a conclusion</li> <li>• Contain two addresses, the writer’s and the recipient’s</li> <li>• Contain a formal salutation following the recipient’s address</li> <li>• Contain a title or subject line following the salutation and be underlined</li> <li>• Reflect a formal language register</li> <li>• Reflect a formal conclusion followed by the writer’s surname and initials</li> </ul>
Friendly / Informal letter	While the writing of friendly/ informal letter has largely been replaced by electronic media, e.g., email, fax, and sms among others, learners must still be taught to write letters. The range of writing should span from ordinary letters to the immediate family and friends to informal letters to the press, among others. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Write to people who are close, e.g. friends, family, etc.</li> <li>• Write mainly to express an emotion, e.g. congratulate, sympathise, advise, etc.</li> <li>• Use informal to semiformal language register and style</li> <li>• Write in lively simple language</li> <li>• Reflect a logical order and pursue an intended point</li> <li>• Contain an introduction, a body and a conclusion</li> <li>• Contain only one address, the writer’s, with a date in which it was written below it</li> <li>• Contain an informal/semi-formal salutation following the writer’s address</li> <li>• The conclusion ranges from informal to semi-formal followed by the writer’s first name</li> </ul>
Agenda of the meeting	Writing memoranda, agenda and minutes are only useful if meaningful. The best way for these writing activities to work is to have learners watch a video of, or attend a real meeting and then have them take minutes, deduce the agenda from that, and then compare theirs with the real agenda and minutes of the meeting. Otherwise learners need to be introduced to these formats in a very imaginative way. Create an agenda for a imaginary committee and have the learners write up what they think the minutes could have been, carefully sticking to your agenda. An agenda: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Gives an outline of what is to be discussed at a meeting</li> <li>• Is sent beforehand to people/delegates who are invited to a meeting</li> <li>• Usually drawn up by the chairperson and the secretary, who, among others...             <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Check minutes of the previous meeting for items that were carried over</li> <li>- Lists and collects items that the meeting may need to address and,</li> </ul> </li> <li>• Arranges the items according to their importance beforehand</li> <li>• Determines how much time would be allocated to each item</li> </ul>

Minutes	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Record what happened at a meeting</li> <li>• Adopt the minutes as a true record in the following meeting</li> <li>• Reflect the following:               <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Name of the organisation;</li> <li>- The date, the place and the time at which the meeting was held;</li> <li>- Attendance register;</li> </ul> </li> <li>• Quote resolutions word for word</li> <li>• Provide a summary of what was proposed and finally agreed upon</li> <li>• Write in the past tense</li> <li>• Leave out trivialities like jokes</li> <li>• Become legal and binding once signed and dated by the chairperson after being read and adopted in the next meeting, remain so until they can be revoked</li> </ul>
Speech	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Start and adapt the style to be used, when, where, why (purpose), who (audience) and what</li> <li>• Use an opener to attract attention</li> <li>• Develop points well and avoid clichés</li> <li>• Use contrasting tones (and points) but remain audible</li> <li>• Use short sentences with simple ideas, using familiar examples</li> <li>• Balance criticisms with reasonable alternatives</li> <li>• Consider the closing. Leaving the audience with a thought (or two)</li> <li>• Use visual or physical aids but words must come first</li> <li>• Using notes is optional, and only for reference</li> <li>• Use language that expresses maturity, values and background</li> </ul>
E-mail / sms	To inform and maintain a relationship The recipient's address – which, in most cases, is the recipient's name and the server point, as well as the country in which the server point is based. For example, moloiq (name)@ webmail. (server) za (country). Moloi.q@webmail.co.za <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• CC: these may be the recipients whose attention is called to the email.</li> <li>• Subject: This is a summary of the content of the email.</li> <li>• Message</li> <li>• Sender's name.</li> </ul> NB: The sender's address reflects automatically when the email is received. The sender may choose to provide other contact details at the end. This is called a signature
Interview	Written record of an interview: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Give the names of the speaker on the left side of the page</li> <li>• Use a colon after the name of the character who is speaking</li> <li>• Use a new line to indicate each new speaker</li> <li>• Probe the interviewee by asking questions</li> <li>• Portray the interviewee's strong points, talents, weak points, etc.</li> </ul>

TYPES OF WRITING TEXTS
Report (formal and informal)	Reports are very formal documents, and work best when what is examined is very real and important to the learners. There is nothing worse than writing artificial reports, or reports on topics that have no interest to the writer. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Give exact feedback of a situation, e.g. accident, any findings</li> <li>• Reflect a title, introduction (background, purpose and scope), body (Who? Why? Where? When? What? How?), conclusions, recommendations, references, appendices</li> <li>• Plan: collect and organise information; write facts</li> <li>• Use semiformal to formal language register and style</li> <li>• Use             <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Present tense (except historical reports)</li> <li>- General nouns</li> <li>- The third person</li> <li>- Factual description</li> <li>- Technical words and phrases</li> <li>- Formal, impersonal language</li> </ul> </li> </ul>
Curriculum Vitae (CV)	Since most people nowadays make use of templates, it may be worthwhile finding out what makes a good template, and how to adapt and fill them in most usefully. It is useful to note that every CV must address a situation, e.g. a CV for a particular job should speak mainly of the writer's involvement in that particular area. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Present yourself in a document to the world</li> <li>• Present a strong, first impression</li> <li>• Present information clearly, objectively and concisely</li> <li>• Address the post for which the candidate seeks employment.</li> <li>• Provide:             <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Personal details</li> <li>- Formal Qualifications</li> <li>- Work experience (if applicable)</li> <li>- Referees</li> </ul> </li> </ul>
Diary entry	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• A diary is a portrayal of daily events</li> <li>• Present his/her evaluation of the day or event</li> <li>• Write from the writer's point of view; the first person narration is the most appropriate approach</li> <li>• The language choice is simple and to the point</li> <li>• The tone will be determined by the nature of the entry</li> </ul>
Giving directions	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Use directions when telling someone how to get somewhere.</li> <li>• Use mostly the imperative form (the infinitive without the word 'to')</li> <li>• Although the subject 'you' is not stated, it always refers to the second person representing an interaction between the speaker and the listener.</li> <li>• Consider the following when giving directions:             <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Be concise and clear.</li> <li>- The directions must be in chronological order</li> <li>- Indicate the approximate distance</li> <li>- Give the approximate number of streets to be crossed to reach the destination</li> <li>- Provide information about landmarks along the way</li> <li>- Use words indicating position</li> <li>- Use words indicating direction</li> <li>- Use words to show appreciation</li> </ul> </li> </ul>

TYPES OF WRITING TEXTS
Giving Instructions	To explain how to use a tool or an instrument, prepare food, repair faults, etc <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Explain the working or use of any article in operation; preparing dishes, repairing any defaults, etc.</li> <li>• Plan and prepare (see writing features) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- understand the situation(s) and what the product of giving instructions/demonstrations should be or do</li> <li>- Reflect clear, correct and logical sequence of instructions</li> <li>- Use manuals, instructions and operations</li> <li>- Consider vocabulary, grammar, expression, technical language and phrases that might be used</li> </ul> </li> <li>• Presenting.</li> </ul>
Advertisement	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Catch and keep the attention of the reader – ensuring that the operative words stand out.</li> <li>• Create a desire to own the product or use the service.</li> <li>• Make the reader actually go out and buy/use the product/service</li> <li>• Consider the following in designing: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- The target market (for whom the advertisement is intended)</li> <li>- Positioning (where and when the advertisement will appear – in what media, at what time and where in the programme or magazine?)</li> <li>- Appeal (to what sense is the advertisement appealing?)</li> <li>- The layout and font size.</li> <li>- The attitude (sincere or not) and the ratio between fact and opinion</li> <li>- The effectiveness of the choice of colour or lack thereof</li> <li>- The language used (whether it is clichéd, repetitive, figurative, rhetorical, etc.)</li> </ul> </li> </ul>
Posters / flyers	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Can take a variety of forms</li> <li>• Make use of slogans and logos</li> <li>• Usually have a visual design element</li> <li>• Use advertising techniques</li> <li>• Use design to make the poster/flyer eye-catching and memorable</li> <li>• Figurative language and poetic devices used to create impact</li> <li>• Make the language memorable, e.g. metaphor, simile, alliteration, repetition, rhyme, rhythm</li> </ul>
Filling in a form	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Fill in a form for various reasons, e.g. to apply for a job or leave, to enter competitions or contests, etc.</li> <li>• Provide information as required by the institution to which the form is forwarded</li> <li>• State what is required, followed by a colon, e.g. Surname:</li> </ul> Fill in accurately
Obituary	To commemorate and inform others of someone's death <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Full names; birthplace; where the person lived; date of birth; date of death, key survivors (spouse, children) and their names; time, date, place of funeral, brief information about the deceased, etc.</li> <li>• Some of the following may also be included: Cause of death (cultural sensitivity); biographical information; memorial tribute information</li> </ul>

TYPES OF WRITING TEXTS
Contract	A binding agreement entered by two or more parties. The intention of a contract is to create an obligation. Contract can also be made orally. (It is recommended that a contract be done orally (verbally) and in a written form to show damages and remedies thereof) Elements of a contract <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Names (contractor, contractee, witnesses)</li> <li>• Terms and conditions (content of the contract – including service to be rendered, duration and money if there would be monetary implications)</li> <li>• Signatures (all parties involved)</li> <li>• Date and place (when and where the contract is signed)</li> </ul>
Will / testament	A will decides or determines what happens to one’s property and possessions after death. A will ensures that the deceased’s wishes are fulfilled after death. A will should be kept up to date and in a safe place. It should have the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Names of the owner of the will</li> <li>• Date when the will was made</li> <li>• Money, properties and possessions</li> <li>• Beneficiaries</li> <li>• Executor (friend, member of the family, lawyer)</li> </ul>
Constitution and policy	A set of fundamental principles or rules that governs an organisation, e.g. country, burial society, youth organisation, stokvel, soccer club. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Rules need to be agreed by parties involved</li> <li>• Rules are binding</li> <li>• They can be amended</li> <li>• Format should include the name of the organisation or institution, membership, terms of references, date of adoption, signature, etc.</li> </ul>
Literary and media texts
Personal recount	To tell about a personal experience <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Orientation: scene setting or establishing context, e.g. It was in the school holidays...</li> <li>• An account of the events that took place, often in chronological order, e.g. I went to Tumelo’s place ... Then ...</li> <li>• Some additional detail about each event, e.g. He was surprised to see me.</li> <li>• Reorientation – a closing statement that may include elaboration, e.g. I hope I can spend more time with Tumelo. We had fun.</li> <li>• Usually written in the past tense</li> <li>• Told in first or third person</li> <li>• Time connectives are used, e.g. First, then, next, afterwards, just before that, at last, meanwhile</li> <li>• Tends to focus on individual or group participants</li> <li>• Can be informal in style</li> </ul>
Dialogue	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Reflect a conversation between two or more people.</li> <li>• Record exchanges as they occur, directly from the speaker’s point of view</li> <li>• Write the names of the characters on the left side of the page</li> <li>• Use a colon after the name of the character who is speaking</li> <li>• Use a new line to indicate each new speaker</li> <li>• Advise characters (or readers) on how to speak or present the action given in brackets before the words are spoken</li> <li>• Sketch a scenario before writing</li> </ul>

TYPES OF WRITING TEXTS
Review	Reviews seldom follow a set pattern. They do not have to cover any specific aspects of the book, film or CD. Generally, reviewers establish what it is they are reviewing and who is involved, but after that anything goes. Good reviews attempt to be fair but honest; bad reviews are merely a personal outpouring of subjective views. Humour is not uncommon in reviews: for some reviewers it is their trade mark. Present reviews from different sources to show learners how varied this writing form can be. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Reflect an individual's response to a work of art, film, book, occasion, etc.</li> <li>• Project his/her 'judgement' to the work presented</li> <li>• The reader of the review does not have to agree with the reviewer</li> <li>• Two reviewers may respond differently to the same text</li> <li>• Give relevant facts, for example, the name of the author/producer/artist, the title of the book/work, the name of the publisher/production company, as well as the price (where applicable)</li> </ul>
Poetry text	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Write about observations and experiences <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Human beings</li> <li>- Nature</li> <li>- Social issues</li> <li>- Technology, etc</li> </ul> </li> <li>• Follow a structure <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Title</li> <li>- Verses</li> </ul> </li> <li>• Use poetic language</li> <li>• Allow poetic license, e.g. ignore punctuations or language structures</li> </ul>
Newspaper article	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• State facts briefly but accurately.</li> <li>• Strive to communicate the essence without losing the reader</li> <li>• Summarise accurately, without slanting the truth</li> <li>• Give a succinct title and add a clear sub-title</li> <li>• Start with the most important facts: the who, what, how, when, where, why and to what degree</li> </ul>
Magazine article	More often than not, in magazine articles the personal likes and dislikes and the stylistic idiosyncrasies of the writer are foremost, and this should be encouraged in your learners. They need also to write serious magazine articles about anything they take seriously, as well as funny articles in which they can mock, ridicule, make fun of, laugh at, criticise any suitable topic. Most of the magazine articles learners read are probably of this kind. The internet is full of articles, and while their style and content are not seriously different from their written counterparts, it is worth examining them, particularly as they appear in blogs, which is now a widely acknowledged form of writing. Having learners set up their own blogs (on paper, though there are no doubt learners who already have their own blogs) provides a rich writing context, combining careful attention to audience, immediacy of the content, and appropriate tone. Use the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The heading must be attractive and interesting</li> <li>• The style should be personal, speaking directly to the reader <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- The style can be descriptive and figurative, appealing to the imagination of the readers</li> <li>- Names, places, times, positions and any other necessary details should be included in the article</li> <li>- The article should stimulate interest and, like an advertisement, encourage the reader to use the product or service</li> <li>- Paragraphs should not be too long and should encourage the reading of the article</li> <li>- The font should be light and attractive</li> </ul> </li> </ul>

Documentary	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Detailed investigation of the life of a subject, e.g. hero (sport, education, religious), and a report on the findings thereof.</li> <li>This could include the highlights and the challenges the subject encountered before reaching the pinnacle.</li> <li>Names, places, times, positions and any other necessary details should be included in the documentary.</li> <li>Start with the most important facts: the who, what, how, when, where, why and to what degree</li> </ul>

Longer listening comprehension texts e.g. story, interviews, plays, news reports	150-200 / up to 5 mins	200-250 / up to 5 mins	250-300 / up to 5 mins
Shorter listening comprehension texts e.g. announcements, information texts, instructions, directions	60-70 words / 1-2 mins	70-80 words / 1-2 mins	80-100 words / 1-2 mins
Reading comprehension/intensive reading texts	150-200 words	200-250 words	250-300 words

The length of texts for extended reading is not prescribed as this depends on the type of text, the complexity of the language and the reading level of the learners.

3.1.4 Language Structures and Conventions

Language structures and conventions refer to rules that govern usage of punctuation marks, capitalization, letters, sounds, words, sentences and paragraphs in oral and written work. These rules include spelling, pronunciation, grammar, critical language awareness, etc.

The skills of listening, speaking, reading and writing cannot be put into practice without a sound knowledge of language structure and practice in using it. Learners also need a wide vocabulary, which is perhaps the single most important factor enabling a person to communicate well. A wide vocabulary is essential for all the language skills, but especially for reading and writing. The most effective way for learners to improve their grammar and increase their vocabulary is by reading intensively inside and outside of the classroom.

Learners will learn how Language Structures and Conventions are used, and will develop a shared language for talking about language (a 'meta-language'), so that they can evaluate their own and other texts critically in terms of meaning, effectiveness and accuracy. They will also be able to use this knowledge to experiment with language to build meaning from word and sentence levels to whole texts, and to see how a text and its context are related. Through interacting with a variety of texts, learners extend their use of vocabulary and correctly apply their understanding of Language Structures and Conventions.

It is expected that Language Structures and Conventions should be taught in context as other language skills are taught and developed. The teaching plans contain a list of Language Structures and Conventions (items) that should be covered in each grade. When selecting listening and reading texts for each two-week cycle, make sure that they contain some of the language items you want to cover. Create activities related to these texts that will enable learners to use these items, in context. Similarly, the writing texts learners will write will include language items. Give your learners guidance on appropriate and correct usage of these items. Select some of the items your learners have difficulty with and give them formal practice. In the Senior Phase, one hour per two week cycle is set aside for formal instruction and practice in Language Structures and Conventions.

The table below shows the language structures and conventions that learners are expected to learn during the listening, speaking, reading and writing processes. These structures should be taught in context in an integrated manner using different types of oral, visual and written texts. They should also be taught explicitly with time set aside as required.

EXAMPLES OF LANGUAGE STRUCTURES AND CONVENTIONS
Punctuation	Full stop, exclamation mark, question mark, comma, colon, semi-colon, apostrophe, quotation marks, parentheses, ellipses, hyphen

3.3 TEACHING PLANS

The Senior Phase is, to most unfortunate learners, the end of compulsory education. After Grade 9, most learners either go looking for a job or follow vocational careers. It is on this basis that the pitching of the education level should be higher for learners in the Senior Phase. Learners must be exposed to a wider range of knowledge, a feature which should leave them better prepared to face their tomorrow.

The pitching of First Additional Language, in the Senior Phase, almost matches that of the Home Language. The difference is the depth of the text used / read and the text produced. Learners in the Senior Phase should be exposed to a range of literary genres, as well as a range of texts they are required to produce. The exposure will enable the learners to face any of the options open to them, as well as enhance their grasp of content knowledge.

The teaching plan indicates the minimum content to be covered every two weeks per term. The sequence of the content listed is not prescribed and the time given is an approximate indication of how long it could take to cover the content. Teachers should design their Lesson Plans using the teaching plans, their textbooks and any other relevant resources to teach the content using appropriate sequence and pace. Teachers are encouraged to also use content or concepts that are contextual to their environment.

3.3.1 How texts link together in the two-week cycle

Different texts have been used as a basis for designing the two-week teaching cycle. They have been selected on the basis of how they link together to form an integrated unit, for example learners will listen to a story and then read a story. They will be asked to write a short oral description of a place or person (that will link to the story) or they might be asked to write a letter to a character in the story. Select a theme or topic for each two-week cycle that will enable you to link the activities successfully. The reason for using themes or topics is to make it possible to constantly recycle vocabulary and language structures in meaningful contexts.

The language structures suggested in each cycle are meant to strengthen the texts that will be produced in the cycle. The teacher may add other language structures deemed helpful to this course.

3.3.2 How the texts/activities are sequenced across the two-week cycle

The texts do not have to be taught in a particular order. In most cases, there should be a Listening and Speaking activity/text to prepare for the reading or writing activity. Sometimes, the Listening and Speaking activity should derive from the reading text. Learners should engage with the different kinds of texts orally and in reading before they are asked to write these texts. In most cases, the text to be listened to, e.g. a story or news report will be different to and at a higher level than the one that learners will read. This is because their listening skills are more developed than their reading skills.

3.3.3 The type of texts prescribed and recommended

The text types to be taught in every two-week cycle are specified in the teaching plan and should be contained in the prescribed textbook. In most cases, no specific story type is prescribed. Choices may be made from the variety of contemporary stories, imaginative stories (e.g. adventure, science fiction) historical stories (e.g. biographies) and traditional stories (e.g. myths, legends and fables) that are available. The same is true of poems and plays.

These will be texts chosen from the reader/readers/other books (extended reading) and will support the texts read in the prescribed section. They can either be the same text type (to emphasise understanding of text structure) or a different text type (to stimulate further interest and extend the range of reading abilities). In all cases, this additional reading should relate to the topics and themes chosen for the prescribed texts in that two-week cycle.

3.3.4 Integration of all language skills in a two-week cycle

Although the skills in the teaching plan are presented separately, they should be taught in an integrated manner where possible, e.g. in the teaching of an oral interview learners can read a written text and they can later be required to produce a written interview. The choice of language structures to be taught in a particular cycle should enhance the production and understanding of oral and written texts to be produced during that cycle, e.g. the adjectives, synonyms, antonyms, adverbs and past tense prepare learners for writing a narrative or descriptive essay. The subjunctive mood is useful when learners write a reflective essay.

The oral and writing strategies to be taught in each two-week cycle should be determined by the type of text to be produced, e.g. when teaching a narrative essay learners should be taught how to write chronological paragraphs, but when they write expository essays they could be taught how to write a procedural paragraph.

3.3.5 How the Language Structures and Conventions are addressed

The content of the 'Language Structures and Conventions' column is related in most cases to the types of texts prescribed in Listening and Speaking, Reading and Viewing, and Writing and Presenting, and will naturally be given attention in the process of engaging with the texts and during the time allocated for Listening and Speaking, Reading and Viewing, Writing and Presenting. For example, if a story is being done, learners will naturally use the simple past tense and will read texts using this tense. However, it is also important that activities be developed that focus on particular language structures, in context. Choose items from the 'Language Structures and Conventions' section to teach learners language that appears naturally in the focus text type and in an order that supports a natural and logical approach to language acquisition. Not all items must be taught within that given cycle but ensure that all the items listed in the overview are covered by the end of the year. Some 2 week cycles might be filled with numerous Language Structures and Conventions items. This does not necessarily mean that all of them need to be covered in that cycle. The assumption is that most of these items have been dealt with in the previous cycle or in the Intermediate Phase. In the Senior Phase the teaching of these items will be more of a revision.

Construct activities that are meaningful to learners and that relate to the texts they are studying in the two-week cycle. More activities of this nature should be done as learners make progress from Grade 7 to 9. Select very carefully which rules you explain to learners and keep these to a minimum. Teaching should integrate all the language skills and language structures as they are interrelated. All of these should be taught in context. Note however that there is also specific time allocated to formal instruction in Language Structures and Conventions.

SECTION 4: ASSESSMENT IN HOME LANGUAGE

4.1 INTRODUCTION

Assessment is a continuous planned process of identifying, gathering and interpreting information about the performance of learners. It involves four steps: generating and collecting evidence of achievement; evaluating evidence; recording the findings and using information to understand and thereby assist the learner's development in order to improve the process of learning and teaching.

Assessment should be both informal (Assessment for Learning) and formal (Assessment of Learning). In both cases regular feedback should be provided to learners to enhance the learning experience.

Assessment in Languages is ongoing and supports the growth and development of learners. It is an integral part of teaching and learning as it provides feedback for teaching and learning. It should be incorporated in teaching and learning instead of being dealt with as a separate entity. Furthermore, integrated assessment of various language aspects should be practiced. For example, we could start off with a reading piece and do a comprehension test. Language knowledge questions could also be addressed based on the same text. Post-reading the text learners could be asked to respond to the text by, for example, writing a letter about the issues raised in the text or to write some creative response to the content of the text. To wrap up this activity, discussions could be held about the topic and in this way address all of the language skills in one fluent, integrated activity.

Assessing the different language skills should not be seen as separate activities but one integrated activity. Assessment rubrics should thus address the different language skills in the task.

Learners' listening skills, oral competence, ability to answer questions, participation in discussions and written recording skills where necessary should be observed daily.

It is important, too, that learners' understanding of what they are reading is assessed and not just their ability to recognise or decode words. Assessment of reading should therefore also take place regularly and not just be a once-off assessment. Formal reading assessment should focus on reading aloud as well as activities which help to determine how much the learner has understood, for example, by retelling a story or answering questions.

Assessment of written work will focus primarily on the learner's ability to convey meaning, as well as how correctly they have written, for example, correct language structures and use, spelling and punctuation. All assessment should recognise that language learning is a process and that learners will not produce a completely correct piece of work the first time round. Therefore the various stages in the writing process should also be assessed.

When giving a formal assessment task, there will be a focus on a particular skill, for example Listening and Speaking or Reading or Writing. Because language learning is an integrated process, more than one skill will be used. The language structures should be assessed in context. The teacher must ensure that assessment is not only done as written work, but as practical and oral work too. It is important to assess what learners understand and not what they can just memorise. As a result, the teacher should, as often as possible, assess the skills in context. For example, learners may spell all their words correctly during a test on Friday, but are they able to use those same words correctly spelt when writing/ recording their personal news or a story?

The teaching and assessment of languages should make provision for inclusion of all learners, and strategies should be found to assist all learners to access or produce language texts.

The programme of assessment allows for summative assessment, which could take the form of a test or examination, at the end of every term. The work on which assessment is conducted must have been covered during the term. The assessment items must be pitched at different cognitive levels to ensure validity.

4.2 INFORMAL OR DAILY ASSESSMENT

The purpose of continuously collecting information on a learner's achievement that can be used to improve learning.

Informal assessment is a daily monitoring of learners' progress. This is done through observations, discussions, practical demonstrations, learner–teacher conferences, informal classroom interactions, etc. Informal assessment may be as simple as stopping during the lesson to observe learners or to discuss with learners how learning is progressing. Assessment of language competence will be in the form of observation, written exercises, oral activities, presentations, written tests, reading aloud and other forms of assessment. Informal assessment should be used to provide feedback to the learners and to inform planning for teaching. It need not be recorded. It should not be seen as separate from learning activities taking place. In some cases, you might want to set specific assessment of activities to motivate learners to learn. Learners or teachers can mark these assessment tasks.

It is suggested that the teacher use the first two-weeks of the term to do a baseline assessment of learners. The teacher should use the activities given in the first two-weeks of the teaching plans to do this assessment.

Self assessment and peer assessment actively involve learners in assessment. This is important as it allows learners to learn from and reflect on their own performance. The results of the informal daily assessment tasks are not formally recorded unless the teacher wishes to do so. Teachers may wish to keep informal records of how individual learners are progressing in the different aspects of the subject to assist with planning and ensure that individual learners develop the required skills and understanding. The results of daily assessment tasks are not taken into account for promotion and certification purposes.

4.3 FORMAL ASSESSMENT

All assessment tasks that make up a formal programme of assessment for the year are regarded as Formal Assessment. Formal Assessment Tasks are marked and formally recorded by the teacher for progression purposes. All Formal Assessment Tasks are subject to moderation for the purpose of quality assurance and to ensure that appropriate standards are maintained.

Formal assessment provides teachers with a systematic way of evaluating how well learners are progressing in a grade and in a particular subject. Examples of formal assessments include tests, examinations, practical tasks, projects, oral presentations, demonstrations (such as retelling a story, matching), performances (such as acting out), essays, participation in oral tasks (such as dialogues, conversations, discussions), written tasks (such as completing a worksheet, writing paragraphs or other types of texts), etc.

The purpose of designing a Programme of Assessment (POA) is to ensure validity, reliability, fairness and sufficiency of assessment by giving explicit guidance on the types of activities and the percentage allocated to each language skill within a task. It also addresses the focus of assessment, i.e. the way tasks should be addressed.-

In formal assessment, use memoranda, rubrics, checklists and rating scales as well as other appropriate assessment tools to observe, assess and record learners' levels of understanding and skill. Choose an assessment tool that is most appropriate for the type of activity. For example, a rubric is more suitable than a memorandum for a creative writing piece. A memorandum is better suited to a spelling test or a reading comprehension activity.

4.3.1 Formal Assessment requirements for Home Language

Formal assessment tasks must assess a range of aspects of the language skills so that key aspects will be assessed over the course of the term and the year. Teachers should ensure that these aspects have been informally assessed and feedback given to the learner before they are formally assessed.

All assessment in the Senior Phase is internal.

The formal Programme of Assessment for Grades 7-9 comprises of eleven (11) formal assessment tasks, which make up 100%. The school based assessment is 40% whereas the end of the year examination is 60%.

School Based Assessment (40%)

The Senior Phase has ten (10) formal assessment tasks for school based assessment. The formal assessment tasks are packaged as follows:

- Grade 7 – 4 oral tasks, 2 writing tasks, 3 tests and 1 June examination
- Grade 8 - 4 oral tasks, 3 writing tasks, 2 tests and 1 June examination
- Grade 9 - 4 oral tasks, 3 writing tasks, 2 tests and 1 June examination

End of the year examination (60%)

The end of the year examination is comprised of oral and written tasks. The oral task, which is Paper 1, is 20.8%. The percentage should be generated from the four oral tasks undertaken during the course of the year. The written tasks, which should be administered under controlled conditions, comprise of two (2) and three (3) papers respectively for Grades 7 & 8, and Grade 9.

Grades 7 & 8

- Paper 2 – Comprehension and language in context, and response to literature
- Paper 3 – Writing (Literary, Essay and transactional texts)

Grades 9

- Paper 2 – Comprehension and language in context
- Paper 3 – Writing (Literary, Essay and transactional texts)
- Paper 4 – Response to literature

4.3.2 The form of tasks per term

The forms of assessment used should be age and developmental level appropriate. The design of these tasks should cover the content of the subject and include a variety of tasks designed to achieve the objectives of the subject. It should be based on the knowledge and skills done during that term. Use the term plans for each grade to select the kind of activities and the set of skills required for each part of the formal assessment task. For example, if you set a creative writing piece in Grade 7, Term 1, in which learners are required to write a poem, 'write sentences of the same length that rhyme', as that is what would have been taught. If an information text is set in the first term, they will have to write using an appropriate frame or structure. Similarly for Listening and Speaking, learners would not be expected to give a short talk in Grade 7, Term 1, as that is only taught later on.

Formal assessment must cater for a range of cognitive levels as shown below. A variety of types of questions such as multiple choice, cloze, comparison and direct questions should be used.

COGNITIVE LEVELS	ACTIVITY	PERCENTAGE OF TASK
Literal (Level 1)	Questions that deal with information explicitly stated in the text. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Name the things/people/places/elements ...</li> <li>• State the facts/reasons/points/ideas ...</li> <li>• Identify the reasons/persons/causes ...</li> <li>• List the points/facts/names/reasons ...</li> <li>• Describe the place/person/character ...</li> <li>• Relate the incident/episode/experience ...</li> </ul>	Levels 1 and 2: 40%

The forms of assessment used should be age and developmental level appropriate. The design of these tasks should cover the content of the subject and include a variety of tasks designed to achieve the objectives of the subject.

Formal assessments must cater for a range of cognitive levels and abilities of learners as shown below:

4.5 RECORDING AND REPORTING

Recording is a process in which the teacher documents the level of a learner’s performance in a specific assessment task. It indicates learner progress towards the achievement of the knowledge as prescribed in the Curriculum and Assessment Policy Statements. Records of learner performance should provide evidence of the learner’s conceptual progression within a grade and her/his readiness to progress or being promoted to the next grade. Records of learner performance should also be used to verify the progress made by teachers and learners in the teaching and learning process.

Reporting is a process of communicating learner performance to learners, parents, schools, and other stakeholders. Learner performance can be reported in a number of ways. These include report cards, parents’ meetings, school visitation days, parent-teacher conferences, phone calls, letters, class or school newsletters, etc. Teachers in all grades report in percentages against the subject. The various achievement levels and their corresponding percentage bands are as shown in the Table below.

CODES AND PERCENTAGES FOR RECORDING AND REPORTING

RATING CODE	DESCRIPTION OF COMPETENCE	PERCENTAGE
7	Outstanding achievement	80 – 100
6	Meritorious achievement	70 – 79
5	Substantial achievement	60 – 69
4	Adequate achievement	50 – 59
3	Moderate achievement	40 – 49
2	Elementary achievement	30 – 39
1	Not achieved	0 – 29

Teachers will record actual marks against the task by using a record sheet; and report percentages against the subject on the learners' report cards.

4.6 MODERATION OF ASSESSMENT

Moderation refers to the process that ensures that the assessment tasks are fair, valid and reliable. Moderation should be implemented at school, district and provincial levels. The national of moderation may take place at selected provinces, districts and schools. Comprehensive and appropriate moderation practices must be put in place to enhance quality assurance of all subject assessments.

4.6.1 Formal Assessment (SBA)

- Grades 7 and 8 tests and examination are internally moderated. The subject advisor must moderate a sample of these tasks during his/her school visits to verify the standard of tasks and the internal moderation.
- Grade 9 tests and examinations must be moderated at district and provincial level. This process will be managed by the provincial education department.
- Subject advisors must moderate samples of tests and examination papers before they are written by learners to verify standards and guide teachers on the setting of these tasks.

4.6.2 Oral Assessment Tasks

- Grade 7 - 9: Each oral task which is to be used as part of the Programme of Assessment should be submitted to the head of department or subject head for moderation before learners attempt the task. Teachers should then assess the oral assessment tasks.
- The subject advisor or an assigned provincial moderator must moderate a sample of oral assessment tasks during his/her school visits to verify the standard of tasks and the internal moderation.
- A moderator delegated by the Department of Basic Education may moderate a sample of oral assessment tasks for grade 9.

GLOSSARY

Active listening – when a person tries to put themselves in the place of the speaker and listens seriously to what he or she has to say.

acronym -a pronounceable abbreviated word formed from the first letter or letters in phrase or name e.g. ANA (Annual National Assessment), SONA (State of the Nation Address), SASA (South Africa's Schools Act), SOWETO (South Western Township), Soshanguve (Sotho, Shangaani, Nguni, Venda)

additional language - ( also see home language)- a language learned in addition to one's home language

additive multilingualism - when a person learns a language (or languages) in addition to his or her home language. This language does not replace the home language but is learned alongside it. In an additive multilingual programme, the home language is strengthened and affirmed while any further language learned is seen as adding value (e.g. all Additional Languages, including the Language of Learning and Teaching are taught alongside the home language but do not replace it)

aesthetic - 1. sensitive to the beauty of language and thus sensitive to and appreciative of the lasting value of texts

2. an aesthete is a person sensitive to artistic beauty. "Aesthetic" refers to the beauty to be found in a work of art. One can discuss the aesthetics of a work, or make aesthetic judgements alliteration -a pattern of sound that includes the repetition of consonant sounds. The repetition can be located at the beginning of successive words or inside the words.

ambiguity - double meaning created by the way in which words are used; when used unintentionally, ambiguity obscures the meaning (e.g. 'General flies back to front' or 'Short children's stories are in demand') analogy - 1.finding similarities in things that are usually seen as different.

2. finding similarities in things that are usually seen as different, a way of explaining or illustrating something, but not a proof. One must be alert to false analogy. There should be accurate correspondence between the thing that is explained and the details of the analogy anecdotes - narratives of small incidents or events told for the purpose of information, entertainment, humour, malice, or to reveal character animation – the technique of using a series of still pictures to create an illusion of movement or life

anticlimax – when an expectation of some high point of importance or excitement is not fulfilled or the seriousness of a literary plot is suddenly lost as a result of a comical, digressive or meaningless event antithesis – the expression of two opposed or different ideas in balanced contrast (e.g. 'more haste, less speed') antonym – a word that is opposite in meaning to another word in the same language (e.g. 'happy' and 'sad') aphesis - in this case, you have dropped the unstressed vowel at the beginning of the word. These are the unintentional and casually spoken versions of the words. Perhaps the best example is 'cause instead of because assessment – a continuous structured process of gathering information on learner competence in many different ways

assonance – 1. repetition (mostly) of vowel sounds in two or more words e.g. “ It is June and the world is all in tune”

2. Add. The vowel sounds do not have to be precisely the same: assonance could consist of a series of vowel sounds that create a certain effect audience – 1. the intended reader(s), listener(s) or viewers of a particular text; in planning a piece of writing speakers/writers must take into the consideration the purpose and audience when choosing an appropriate form of writing

2. Add. In particular, an audience is those attending a live performance of music or drama.

authentic texts – texts which have a practical function and are not literary (e.g. magazine and newspaper articles, recordings from radio and television, advertisements, product labels, travel brochures, government forms, examples of real letters)

bias – 1. a tendency to favour one thing, idea, attitude or person over another which makes it difficult to make a fair assessment

2. Add. In the game of bowls, the “wood” or bowl has a weight on one side which makes it turn towards that side caption – a title or comment attached above or below an article, a picture, a photo, and so on caricature – 1. an exaggerated portrayal (written or visual) of a character which is achieved by mocking personality traits or appearance

2. Add. The drawings of cartoonists in newspapers are usually intended to be caricatures and work by exaggerating or distorting features of appearance with a view to being comic or satirical
